League Council Flatly Rejects Hitler's Peace Proposals

FRANCE ASKS CONDEMNING OF NAZIS

Resolution by Flandin Would Score Germany For Breaking Pacts

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

LONDON, March 16.—Pierre-Etienne Flandin, foreign minister of France, today presented a resolution condemning Germany for violation of the Locarno treaty to the League of Nations council which, earlier, had refused consideration of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's peace proposals.

Flandin presented the resolution on behalf of France and Belgium.

The resolution stated that Germany had repudiated the Locarno pact between Germany, France and Belgium through an infringement of article 43 of the Versailles treaty, which provides that no troops shall be sent into the Rhineland.

The actionn was taken in a public session which followed a secret session in which the council members agreed to Hitler's demand for equality, but flatly rejected his "condition" that the council must discuss his peace proposals.

Hitler had offered to send a representative to the council's deliberation on Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland only on a basis of full equality in the conference and with the understanding that his recent offer of new peace pacts would be considered.

Oppose Hitler's Stand

Six nations headed by France opposed Hitler's insistence on bringing his peace proposals up simultaneously with the discussion of the Rhineland reoccupation.

The other nations with France were Turkey, Spain, Russia, Poland and Rumania.

The council then voted unanimously to accept Hitler's first condition and reject the second.

The vote was interpreted as tan-

State Insurance Law Held Illegal

ALBANY, N. Y., March 16. (AP) Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell today held unconstitutional the New York state unemployment insurance law.

The judge refused to grant an injunction asked by the Associated Industries of New York State, however. He said he did not wish to stop the state's job insurance machinery from operating until the state's highest court, the court of appeals, has passed on the law's constitutionality.

D. W. Griffith--'Cave Man'

Film King Brings 'His Gal' Here on Visit

By ROCH BRADSHAW

D. W. Griffith, famous movie director, has been playing cave man.

He says that's the technique you have to use these days to get a bride. It seems to work, for yesterday he brought "his gal" here for a homecoming celebration with his relatives at 718 West Sixth street. He calls her his gal—proudly. She's a very pretty gal, with nice blonde hair. When she came home to see the folks yesterday she was garbed very simply in light gray, with blue shoes and just a touch of blue trimming on her dress.

Mr. Griffith's remarks about cave man tactics were facetious, of course. They were made after he and Mrs. Griffith, formerly Miss Evelyn Baldwin, 26, of New York, had enjoyed a good dinner with relatives. The folks at home here are Mrs. Clyde Calhoun, formerly the wife of Mr. Griffith's late brother Jacob; Miss Ruth Griffith, niece of D. W. Griffith and daughter of Mrs. Calhoun; and Miss Gerrie Griffith, Ruth Griffith's niece. Then, there is Lynn Griffith of Ontario, a nephew.

After dinner the family gathered in the living room. The new Mrs. Griffith and Gerrie sat together on the davenport while Mr. Griffith sat in a rocker, smoked cigarets and talked. Just a good old home talk—talk about simple things that real folks are interested in. Mr. Griffith remembered when he used to work for his brother, Jacob, in the newspaper business at Whittier. Talk about the folks in Kentucky, where Cousin Willie lives. Once Mr. Griffith gave an address back there, but instead of talking about the movies he talked about a modern, unsung hero—Cousin Willie.

Cousin Willie is a tall, lanky string bean of a fellow, and he isn't very well. He can't do hard work, but he buys and sells turkeys and makes a living that way. The reason why Cousin Willie is a real hero is that his little home has become a haven for the relations back there who are up

Swallows' Arrival To Be Broadcast

Somewhere between San Juan Capistrano and South America a tired flock of swallows is winging its way steadily northward today. As though the flight were an epoch making non-stop journey of a famous airplane squadron, the entire nation is awaiting anxiously for news of the birds' arrival at the historic mission for the National Broadcasting company will be on hand next Thursday to herald to the world the news of the swallows' arrival.

When the weary birds circle the ancient mission and finally flutter to rest and seek homes in the adobe walls, an N. C. B. sound truck will be on hand, delicately tuned to catch the whir of wings and broadcast it to the nation. Motion picture cameras will be there, too, thus giving the swallows the most important welcome they have ever had.

There will be an added reason for anxiety about the birds' arrival. For 60 years they always have come back from their southern pilgrimage, on St. Joseph's day. Thursday will be that day, but this is leap year. There is one more day to account for this year. Will the swallows be aware of that fact?

Old-time residents of the mission are unconcerned, however, about the extra day. They explain that it will make no difference to the swallows. They confidently predict that the birds will follow their ancient custom and arrive on time at the mission.

Orange Officers Search For Suspect After Five-Mile Chase

Orange police today were searching for a driver of a stolen car who led them on a wild five-mile chase early Sunday and escaped in an orange grove in a hail of bullets, after the gasoline tank and one tire on the car had been punctured by police fire.

Officers T. V. Towns and Jack Sanford first noticed the car as it swept through the Orana intersection at a high rate of speed, they reported. They gave chase and followed the careening car through Orange and Villa Park.

The wild ride finally ended when the driver crashed into an orange grove at Collins and Wanda streets at the north city limit of Orange, at a speed estimated at 80 miles an hour. The automobile knocked over five or six concrete standpipes before coming to a stop, and the driver escaped in a cloud of dust that covered the scene, police said.

The car later was found to be the property of Edward J. Shimkus, Los Angeles. County authorities are checking on fingerprints obtained from the car and on a camera with three pictures exposed, found near the wreck. The driver was described as between 20 and 25 years of age, five feet, 10 inches tall, and weighing about 130 pounds.

$2100 AN ACRE FOR GROVE

Sale of the eight-and-one-third-acre orange ranch of L. A. Bortz, near Olive, at $2100 an acre, was announced today. The property was purchased by Jack Clayton, who also operates a 10-acre grove near Villa Park. Mr. Bortz is president of the county farm bureau.

The trees on the property are about 18 years of age. Frank Hallman, Orange real estate dealer, handled the transaction.

Hint Process Tax To Fill U. S. Gap

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP) A possibility congressional tax drafters may have to resort to processing taxes to fill out President Roosevelt's $792,000,000 revenue program appeared today despite a desire among both Democrats and Republicans to avoid such levies in an election year.

"We don't have to go to processing taxes, but we shall have to go somewhere to get the $792,000,000," Chairman Samuel B. Hill (D., Wash.) of the house ways and means tax committee said.

"Of course if the March 15 income tax returns show a very great increase over estimates, that would help a lot."

$900,000 California Aid Warrants Sold

SACRAMENTO, March 16. (AP) State Controller Ray L. Riley sold at a premium today a block of $900,000 of state registered warrants to finance direct unemployment relief in California during the balance of this month. The paper was purchased by the Bank of America and the Capital National Bank of Sacramento.

TAX DEADLINE IS TONIGHT

Office for U. S. Income Levy Payments Will Be Open Until 9

Life is just one income tax after another.

Today the bureau of internal revenue was rushing to handle last-minute filings for the federal income tax. Tomorrow the rush will begin to pay the new state income tax—if the local office opens.

In order to accommodate those who have put off filing their federal returns to the last minute, the office in the federal building here will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight. That's absolutely the final deadline.

While no figures were available today, it was reported at the federal tax office that business has been unusually brisk recently—especially today. More people have been filing returns than heretofore, and more people have been paying their taxes at the time they file their returns, it was explained.

Those who fail to make their returns today will be subject to a 5 per cent penalty. This penalty will become larger as time goes on. Between 30 and 60 days the penalty will be 10 per cent. Up to 90 days it will be 15 per cent. Up to 120 days it will be 20 per cent. For delinquency beyond that time the penalty will be 25 per cent.

Arrangements were being made here today to open the state income tax office at 308 West Fifth street. Furniture was expected to be moved in this afternoon. The deadline for filing state income tax returns is April 15.

Utility Test Goes To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—Another New Deal case involving constitutionality of the public utility holding company act was appealed today to the supreme court.

The court met in brief session, but handed down only two decisions of restricted significance and a list showing what new appeals they had decided to entertain or ignore. Thereupon the justices adjourned until March 30.

REX KENNEDY NAMED C. C. PRESIDENT

Officers for Booster Body Elected Today By Directors

Rex Kennedy, prominent business man connected with the Orange County Title Company, today took charge of the destinies of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce for the coming year. Mr. Kennedy was elected president at a meeting of the board of directors. He succeeds W. H. Spurgeon, who has held the office for the past year.

Today's meeting was the first since last week's election of the board of directors for the coming year.

James Harding was re-elected first vice president, while Herbert L. Miller was named second vice president, succeeding Frank Henderson. Mr. Harding is connected with the Chandler furniture store, while Mr. Miller is proprietor of Herbert L. Miller, Inc., tire distributors here.

Wilbur Barr of the Barr Lumber Company was named treasurer, succeeding Ellis Diehl.

The board extended a vote of thanks to Mr. Spurgeon for his service as president during the past year. The motion for the vote was made by Mr. Harding. The chamber was reorganized at the beginning of last year and Mr. Spurgeon has served during the period of adjustment to the new basis.

HOSKINS GIVEN ANAHEIM POST

Louis H. Hoskins, Anaheim, rancher, today was appointed acting postmaster of Anaheim, according to an announcement made by the postoffice department, Washington, D. C., the Associated Press said. Mr. Hoskins will fill the vacancy created last week by the death of J. Harry Whitaker, who served as Anaheim postmaster for 12 years.

Mr. Hoskins' appointment to office was a "slap in the face" to the Orange county Democratic central committee which had recommended George Reed, secretary of the Anaheim chamber of commerce, for the job. The action taken by the postoffice department brings to a close a heated battle between Democratic factions in Anaheim over the job.

Deny Mahan Taken In South Dakota

PINE RIDGE, S. D., March 16. (AP)—Reports that a suspect in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping had been arrested on the Pine Ridge reservation caused a brief flurry today, but officers of the agency and the department of justice announced later that the man was not William Mahan, fugitive in the case.

Denial that the suspect was Mahan came from P. H. Jennings, chief clerk of the Pine Ridge agency, and Werner Hanni, special agent in charge of the department of justice at Aberdeen.

Cagney Wins Right To Quit Contract

LOS ANGELES, March 16. (AP) Red-haired James Cagney won his suit today to cancel his $4500 a week motion picture contract with Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc. The decision was handed down by Superior Judge Charles Bogue, who ruled the studio had breached the contract.

Pony's Kick Kills Serge Mdivani

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 16. (AP)—Death in a polo game gave a final dramatic touch today to the colorful life story of 33-year-old Prince Serge Mdivani, one of the widely-known "marrying Mdivani" brothers. While his bride of less than six weeks, the former Louise Astor Van Allen of Newport, R. I., collapsed at his side from the shock of grief, Prince Serge died late yesterday a few minutes after he was kicked on the head by his horse from which he had fallen.

The tragedy, recalling the death of his brother, Prince Alexis, in an automobile accident in Spain a few months ago, occurred at the Delray Beach polo field about 20 miles south of here.

Alexis' Ex-wife

Prince Serge's bride, one of America's outstanding socialites, was the divorced wife of Prince Alexis.

In the match between his Georgians and The Texans, led by Cecil Smith, Serge attempted a daring maneuver. He cut his pony across the line of play for a difficult reach. His mount collided with Smith's, and fell. Prince Serge struggled to his feet, and was kicked in the head. Ten minutes later he died of a cerebral hemorrhage. An inhalator was used more than an hour in vain.

Stays At His Side

Although informed at first that her husband's injury was slight the princess rushed to his side. As physicians continued to work over the prince it started raining but the princess, drenched to the skin, stayed on the field until all hope was gone.

Most of the several hundred members of Palm Beach society who were watching the game left without knowing the prince was dead.

Mdivani's body was taken to Palm Beach to await funeral arrangements.

Married Three Times

Prince Serge's first wife was Pola Negri, motion picture actress. They were married in 1927 and divorced in 1931. His second wife was Mary McCormic, opera singer, who was married to him in 1931 and divorced in 1933.

The singer wept without restraint last night in Buffalo, N. Y., on learning Prince Serge had been killed.

Prince Alexis was the former husband of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, from whom he was divorced in Reno, Nev., last May, shortly before he was killed. Prince David, only survivor of the famous three brothers, was married to Mae Murray, motion picture actress, in 1926 and divorced in 1933. He resides in California.

Native of Russia

Prince Serge was born at Batoun, Georgia in Russia, in 1902. His father, General Zakhari Mdivani, was aide-de-camp to the czar during the World war.

Prince Serge and his brothers have made news for more than a decade in this country and abroad. He was in the California courts in 1933 on charges he and another brother mismanaged their oil enterprises. A receiver was appointed and Serge was ousted as a director. A jury failed to reach a verdict as to his guilt. Later he was indicted and freed on a charge of falsifying corporation records.

Pola Negri sued him twice after their divorce. In 1931 she sued him for 2,000,000 francs she claimed was entrusted to him when they were married. Last year she sued for the return of $10,000 and a settlement was reported two weeks later.

Claim 400 Strikers Lose N. Y. Jobs

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Building service employes returned to their old posts today after two weeks on the picket line to the accompaniment of charges by the union that at least 400 men had been refused reinstatement.

Union headquarters announced that 22 realty firms had each "locked out" from one to 20 workers when they reported this morning and that 300 strikers staged a strike of their own at London Terrace, one of the city's largest apartment buildings, in protest against the management's alleged refusal to reinstate 20 of their number.

LAMSON TRIAL NEAR END

SAN JOSE, March 16. (AP)—Taking of evidence ended today in the third trial of David A. Lamson, charged with murdering his wife, and Prosecutor A. P. Lindsay was to make his opening statement to the jury this afternoon.

Dies on Polo Field

SPANISH MOB GRABS LAND

MADRID, March 16. (AP)—Extremists today seized extensive properties owned by President Niceto Alcala Zamora.

An aunt of the President was attacked by the extremists, but saved from serious injury by police.

The sudden attack on the President's property and family came despite an order from Leftist leaders to their followers to stop demonstrating.

Mobs alleged by police to be made up of Communists occupied the president's big estate at Priego de Cordoba and tried to storm the home of Senorita Gloria Torres, the 74-year-old maiden aunt of the chief executive in Jaen province. Her retainers barricaded the house and sent word to Governor Francisco Rubio, who rushed two trucks of storm police to the besieged mansion.

DENY BETTING OFFICE HAS TRACK WIRE

Racing Officials Take Stand to Testify Against Agents

The legal battle to establish the status of the Continental Turf Agency, Santa Ana horse-race betting establishment, opened in justice court today, with the prosecution winnnig the first point, as evidence was introduced showing that the agency had no wire into the Santa Anita track or any official connection with the track.

Over the protests of Defense Counsel Richard Cantillon, Los Angeles, evidence of W. C. Buchanan, secretary of the California racing board, and Hugh Blue, secretary of the Los Angeles Turf club, that the agency had no communication with persons inside the track was introduced and sustained by Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison.

Two-Day Battle Seen

Prospects of a two-day battle over the preliminary examination were seen today, as Mr. Cantillon moved first to have the indictments quashed, and objected energetically to each succeeding point of evidence made by the prosecution.

The move to quash the indictment and free the defendants was made on the grounds that the warrants for their arrest were illegal, gave no evidence of the crime, and were based on hearsay evidence. Mr. Cantillon argued that the court for those reasons did not have jurisdiction over the case. Justice Morrison denied both motions.

Just One Telephone

Testimony of Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Blue was to the effect that only one telephone into the track was in use during the racing period, and that was located in the office of the turf club and used only by track officials. The Santa Anita track had no official outside representatives during the past racing season, both witnesses said.

Opening defense tactics indicated that the case will be fought on the premise that an official connection with the track was not necessary for the placing of bets through pari-mutuel machines, thereby adhering to the law on California betting.

Seven Face Charges

More than a dozen witnesses remained to be called as the court was adjourned at noon, following the testimony of Deputy Sheriff Russel R. Lutes, who identified the defendants and evidence collected.

Albert Zeitman, Earl Reed, M. A. Myers, Frank Scoby, H. B. Van Deen, Denny Nicholson and H. Hurley, all employes of the betting agency, are charged with 18 violations of the California penal code on gambling, placing of bets and operating of a pool.

Pending the outcome of the test case, the agency has re-opened its offices in Anaheim and plans to re-open somewhere in Santa Ana soon, officials indicated. The betting office formerly was located at 504 North Main street.

'Jafsie' Reaches N. Y. Tomorrow

TRENTON, N. J., March 16. (AP) Counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann looked today to the imminent return of Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon, Lindbergh ransom intermediary, from a tropical vacation to lend impetus to an eleventh hour struggle to save Hauptmann from the electric chair.

Condon is aboard the Grace Liner Santa Inez, due in New York tomorrow.

C. Lloyd Fisher, battling desperately to save the Bronx carpenter from execution, said he would demand that Condon be examined as vigorously as Hauptmann himself was cross examined at his Flemington trial for the kidnaping and slaying of Charles A. Lindbergh, jr.

Hauptmann probably will be put to death on the night of Tuesday, March 31.

Young Mother Gives Her Two Babies to Strangers

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16. (AP)—The strang story of a young mother who gave her two little daughters away to persons she had never even seen, was revealed here today.

Discouraged by a seemingly hopeless fight against poverty, Mrs. Linda Jones, 22, said she sent a neighbor into a public park to solicit foster parents for her little girls—one three years old and the other a babe in arms.

The story came to light when Mrs. Einar Simonsen took initial steps to adopt the baby.

Mrs. Simonsen, hearing of a woman who asked passersby a week ago in Jefferson Square if they wanted a baby, went to the basement room where Mrs. Jones lived. The young mother was not at home.

"That's all right," Mrs. Simonsen said she was told. "Take the baby. The mother won't mind. If you decide not to keep the child, give it to somebody else."

"I was desperate," Mrs. Jones explained today. "My husband and I had separated. I don't know the names of the people who took Edna (her 3-year-old daughter), but I know they have given her a lovely home and that they intend to adopt her. I'm satisfied with that."

Parra, 55-year-old Mexican laborer, was stabbed in a brawl Saturday night.

For almost two hours, Dr. A. E. Saverien worked over the unconscious man in an effort to save his life. First the surgeon removed pieces from two of Parra's ribs to make a "window," exposing the heart. Then with needle and catgut, he sewed up a one-inch gash in the muscular covering of the pulsing organ.

"I've waited 15 years to perform that sort of operation," Dr. Saverien said. It was the first in the receiving hospital's medical history, covering 30 years.

CALIFORNIA FACED WITH STOPPAGE OF RELIEF FUNDS IN JUNE

EXTRA FUNDS FROM U. S. TO BE SOUGHT

Situation Acute Here, Says Welfare Chief, Home From Session

California is faced with a complete stoppage of relief funds by the end of June, unless attempts to secure additional funds from Washington this week are successful, it was divulged in an emergency session of the state relief commission in Los Angeles Saturday.

Frances Carr, chairman of the commission, and State Relief Administrator Charles I. Schottland were sent to Washington by the commission in an attempt to secure funds for financing the state's relief funds, Byron Curry, county welfare director, said today on his return from the conference. County Supervisor W. C. Jerome also attended the meeting.

Session Not Likely

No consideration is being given plans to call a special session of the state legislature to find new funds, Gov. Frank Merriam said. It was pointed cut that the state relief program will cost about $6,000,000 a month if the federal government does not continue its works program in California after July 1.

Governor Merriam, it was explained, recently wrote National Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins that 70,000 families in California subsisting on the state-financed dole will have exhausted the dole fund some time in May, and that no further funds will be available until the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Situation Acute

The situation caused by the shortage of funds already is acute, Mr. Curry said today. About 300 men were ordered released from the Works Progress administration here last week, and no provision is being made for their care, he explained. They no longer are eligible for State Relief Administration aid, owing to department regulations, and being employables they do not come under the provisions of the county welfare department. More will be released as the funds shrink, it is feared.

Mr. Hopkins has definitely refused to provide more federal aid for the dole set-up in this state, it was explained. Expected decrease in the number of WPA workers are expected to increase direct relief lists to about 100,000 cases in the state within a short time.

TWO BUTTES, Colo., March 16 (AP) Three-year-old Steve Benson walked into a farm house alive today after spending the night lost in one of the worst "black blizzard's" dust storms ever to strike this area.

More than 500 persons were searching for the boy, expecting to find him smothered or frozen to death, when he reached the farm home of Dewey Fetters, six miles from where he disappeared, 10:30 a. m. "I slept out," he said. "Saw the cows." Almost immediately he fell asleep. Doctors said his condition was "expectionally good."

Townsend Probe Due in Two Weeks

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—Opening of public hearings within two weeks in the house investigation of the Townsend and other old age pension movements was predicted today by Chairman Bell (D., Mo.) of the investigators.

At the downtown headquarters of the Townsend movement, R. E. Clements, secretary to Dr. F. E. Townsend, told reporters if house investigators "stick around much longer, we'll have them joining the Townsend clubs." He said agents for the special house committee have been working at Townsend headquarters more than a week.

Germany Can't Vote

The council was agreed that Germany was entitled to sit in the council on an equal footing with the other Locarno powers—that is, without the right to vote.

The council ruled, however, that the reichsufehrer's proposals were a matter, not for the council, but for the signatories of the Locarno pact.

It was understood that the council decided to draft still another invitation to Germany to attend the League of Nations.

Earlier in the day, members of the council sought to clarify Hitler's reply to the invitation to send a representative to the council. Clarification, it was said, centered in just what was meant by the word "alsbald," contained in the telegram Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league, received from Hitler last night.

Different Translations

The German embassy in London while the British cabinet was considering the situation, informed the foreign office the correct translation of the word is "in due course" instead of "forthwith" as the council secretariat officially translated it.

The German embassy explained it communicated with Berlin and was informed Hitler meant "in due time" rather than "immediately" and that the word "alsbald" was translated differnly by north and south Germans.

Germany's position now is understood to be that she will attend the council session on a footing of equality if assured that the powers concerned are prepared to enter into negotiations in due course with regard to the German proposals.

YOU MAY BE SICK AND NOT KNOW IT, DOCTOR DECLARES

BERKKELEY, March 16. (AP)—One can have measles without knowing it and become the center of a large epidemic, Dr. Karl F. Meyer of the University of California school of medicine, has found.

A person so infected will not run a fever, Mr. Meyer said, after a study of "symptomless" diseases and the disease's characteristic spots will not appear.

Attention was focussed on such latent infections during the World war, when it was found that tetanus and gas gangrene often set in long after the wound with which they were originally associated.

Reviewing these cases in a recent scientific paper, Dr. Meyer pointed out that infection could lie dormant for long periods and was not infrequently stirred up by operations to remove bullets or bits of shrapnel.

FRENCH SCIENTIST HOLDS HAWAIIANS NATIVE AMERICANS

HONOLULU, March 16. (AP)—Native Hawaiians were once residents of the American continent, believes Capt. Eris de Bisschop, French scientist recently shipwrecked in Hawaii.

His conclusions are at variance with the recognized scientific belief that the Hawaiians and other Polynesian peoples came to the Pacific from the opposite direction, probably somewhere in southeastern Asia.

"According to observations I have made in two and a half years' voyaging in the Pacific," says Capt. de Bisschop, a member of the French Geographic Society, whose Chinese junk went to pieces on the island of Molokai, "I find the idea of the Polynesian race coming from Malaysia in historic times impossible."

He bases his belief on studies of winds and currents in the south Pacific which led to his conclusion that west-to-east migrations could not have been made under then existing conditions.

TOWN THAT BANNED 'MONKEY TEACHING' NOW GOES MODERN

DAYTON, Tenn., March 16. (AP) The prohibition against teaching evolution, publicized in the Scopes case in 1925, has not otherwise balked "progress" in Dayton.

Those who thronged the town for the famous "monkey trial" would hardly recognize it today, with its new skyline, created by demolition of seven old buildings and erection of others.

The old brick high school, where Thomas Scopes precipitated the "battle of intellectuals" by teaching the theory of organic evolution to his sophomore biology students, has given way to a modern structure.

Also missing are the Gem City opera house, built in 1886 as one of the first brick buildings in Rhea county, the old button factory and the wooden waterhouse livery stable.

Work is progressing on the administration building of the William Jennings Bryan university, endowed by the Great Commoner who carried his fudamentalist faith to victory in the trial.

STRAY BULLETS MENACE PAIR

Bullets falling into a backyard at 935 English street yesterday afternoon nearly struck John Romero and his young son.

Mr. Romero told Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford that he and his son were playing together in the yard of their home when bullets started falling through the limbs of a tree.

The officer found three young men at Washington and Artesia street, nearly a quarter of a mile from the Romero home, who were shooting at birds with a .22 caliber revolver. One of the trio, Robert Rumbould, Santa Ana, told Lieutenant Wolford he had fired the shots. The two other youths with him were Ernest Zimmerman, 1615 West Fifth street, and Maynard Zenault, route 3 box 361, Santa Ana. The gun was confiscated, and Lieutenant Wolford said charges of shooting firearms inside the city limits may be filed against Rumbould.

QUEEN CONTEST IS EXTENDED

Modern counterpart of Cinderella's glass slipper, a diamond ring will be slipped upon the finger of the lucky Santa Ana girl who is elected queen of the Sciots annual spring Fiesta.

Opportunity to be this girl is open until 6 p. m. Wednesday to all local young women. The entry deadline today was advanced from Saturday midnight. The Queen will be selected according to the number of votes received from friends, rather than upon a basis of beauty or popularity.

Winner in the contest will be crowned Sunday evening, at conclusion of the Fiesta at Fourth and Garfield streets. Girls placing second and third will receive a diamond ring and wrist watch, respectively. A complete "hope chest" is to be given away that evening.

$5 DINNER FOR DEMOS NEAR

Five dollar bills were at a premium today as Young Democrats of Orange county made final preparations for their five-dollar campaign war chest dinner tomorrow night. The affair will take place in the steak house at Armstrong's cafe on 101 highway between here and Anaheim.

The affair will be staged to raise money for the presidential campaign. A speaker will be secured from Los Angeles by Robert Ramsey and Ray LaFont. Stanley Clem, president of the organization, is in general charge of arrangements for the affair. Entertainment will be arranged by Russ Palmgren and Dr. Perry Davis.

Care In School Zone Wins Gasoline For 3 Drivers

Three cars stopped today to let pedestrians pass at a school zone on North Main street. Their drivers each won five gallons of gasoline.

The numbers of the cars:
5P 3447, 7N 4755 and 8X 452.

Drivers of these cars will receive orders for five gallons of gasoline by bringing their automobiles to The Journal office and identifying themselves before 6 p. m. tomorrow.

The Journal is conducting a traffic safety contest to help keep before the public the need for careful driving to avoid accidents. Each day a different traffic regulation is the basis of the contest. Tomorrow the contest editor will watch for cars which stop according to law behind school busses.

Saturday's winners, 7N 6169, 6T 2540 and 2B 6510, must come to The Journal office before 6 p. m. today in order to claim their awards.

BIG SEAL AWES MEXICANS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A big gold seal and six inches of red ribbon are now attached to letters of introduction from the Texas governor to Mexican officials. "You'd be surprised how a document like that helps to get one out of tight spots," said one man who crosses the border frequently.

BROTHERHOOD HONORS LA HABRA MAN

Ira E. Weide of La Habra was elected Saturday to a three-year term as director of the Federated Church Brotherhoods of California, convening at Pomona. Mr. Weide is one of six directors chosen, the others being Carl A. Bundy and George Pepperdine, Los Angeles; Eli F. Bush, Hollywood; Glen Cornelius, Huntington Park, and E. R. Long, Bakersfield.

Delegates adopted resolutions urging support of the local option liquor measure to appear on the November election ballot. Fifty representatives to the state council were elected.

The principal speaker Saturday evening was Gov. Frank F. Merriam, whose topic was "The Value of a Boy." The convention closed yesterday with public sessions.

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: Met Miss Idyl Rumor over town this morning. Heard lots of interesting gossip, but one thing seemed more important than others.

Understand our city council is going to present an ordinance tonight to protect our local new and used car dealers from the influx of those outsiders who would come in here to unload their stocks, often unscrupulously, on an unsuspecting local public.

Our city council is to be commended on its many wise moves in the past, and if it is true that an ordinance to protect local automobile dealers is to be passed, it looks like a wise action on the part of the Honorable City Dads.

Such an ordinance will protect more than the local dealers. It is a protection to us buyers as well. Too often it is a hard job to catch up with a fly-by-nighter.

Yours for our council and the ordinance.

GLENN L. THORNE,
The Sidewalk Spectator.

P. S.—Wouldn't be surprised if the council puts it through as an emergency proposition.

BEAUCEANT INITIATION

Stated meeting of the Social Order of Beauceant will be held Wednesday, at 2 p. m., in Masonic hall. Initiation ceremonies are scheduled at that time.

O. E. S. DINNER

Past matrons and past patrons and their escorts will be honored by Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., at a covered-dish dinner in Masonic hall, at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday.

B. & P. W. WEEK PROCLAIMED

Mayor Fred C Rowland today issued a proclamation calling attention to the fact that this week is national Business and Professional Woman's club week.

"At this time," said Mayor Rowland, "it is fitting to call attention to the fact that this week has been set aside as a week for national observance of the activities and service of the Business and Professional Women's clubs.

"As mayor of Santa Ana, I would like to urge upon the people of this city to cooperate in any way possible with the ideals and aims of this organization and its program for this week. I feel that such cooperation and interest are merited because of the high standards which this organization has maintained."

MRS. JAMES DICKSON FETED AT DINNER IN BILTMORE BOWL

Who could ask for anything more than a swank birthday dinner party in the Biltmore bowl with Jimmy Greer and his band playing a piece dedicated to her?

That's what happened in honor of Mrs. James W. Dickson of Santa Ana when her cousin, H. J Brewer of Los Angeles, feted her and his wife with a joint birthday dinner in the bowl, Los Angeles, Saturday evening.

Two fragrant gardenia corsages for the honorees centered a colorful centerpiece of variegated spring blossoms on the dinner table. The song by the orchestra was followed by presentation of a large birthday cake. The rest of the guests were from Los Angeles, excepting for Mr. Dickson.

Nor did that end the birthday festivities for Mrs. Dickson, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman of Tustin, were hosts at a dinner party for her yesterday in their home. Other guests were the Dicksons' family, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuhlman and family, from Pasadena.

'SUBSTANCE' TOPIC OF SCIENCE CHURCH

The Proverb, "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase," constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon were these passages from John concerning an impotent man: "When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole? . . . Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the words: "Do you say the time has not yet come in which to recognize Soul as substantial and able to control the body? Remember Jesus, who nearly nineteen centuries ago demonstrated the power of Spirit and said, 'He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also,' and who also said, 'But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth.'"

TALK ON FASCISM

Dr. George Raiduel will speak on "Fascist Italy" for the Orange county Forum, Tuesday evening March 31, at Fullerton Union High school. Meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 17, was postponed.

SKILLED LABOR CALL IS MADE

Confronted by a scarcity of certain types of labor, despite the existency of an oversupply of applications in other classifications, officials of the Metropolitan Water District today issued a call for experienced concrete finishers and form carpenters to go to work on the 392-mile Colorado river aqueduct project.

Although thousands of applications are on file at the water district's labor employment office, 770 South San Pedro street, Los Angeles, a scarcity of skilled workers in those two classifications has developed because of the acceleration of construction along the aqueduct line, it was announced from the office of General Manager F. E. Weymouth.

Officials emphasized the fact that they have an ample supply of applicants for jobs in all other classifications, and urged that only men fully qualified by experience apply for placement as concrete finishers and form carpenters.

Emphasis also was placed on the fact that to be eligible for employment on the aqueduct project an applicant must be able to prove at least a year's residence in one of the 13 cities which make up the Metropolitan Water District. These cities are Los Angeles, Anaheim, Beverly Hills, Burbank, Compton, Fullerton, Glendale, Long Beach, Pasadena, San Marino, Santa Ana, Santa Monica and Torrance.

Visitor Here Says Buildings Used For Fuel in East

"There was so much snow in Michigan this year that there were times when the trains couldn't get through with coal, and in several little towns the people had to chop down the older buildings to get fuel to warm their houses."

So remarked D. W. Thorne of Grand Rapids, Mich., today, after his arrival to visit his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thorne, 618 West Fourth street. Glenn Thorne is The Journal's Sidewalk Spectator.

But, despite the cold, Mr. Thorne is going back next Friday. He said today that "They hope to be out of the trenches by spring." Mrs. Thorne, who has been here since Dec. 10, recuperating from an illness, will go home with him.

Mr. Thorne is a train dispatcher for the Pennsylvania railroad, and also chaplain. There have been some pretty tough times this winter in getting trains through, he said. It has been the coldest and snowiest winter for 15 years in Michigan. In fact, it has been so cold that when Mr. Thorne arrived in Santa Ana he thought he was really in the tropics.

Santa Ana Library Has 400 Books On Music, Masters

Runs for Senate

The decision of Senator William E. Borah of Idaho to seek the Republican presidential nomination has brought out a number of candidates for the senate seat he has held for many years. Among them is Leslie J. Aker (above), Boise attorney, who announced he would enter the state's Democratic primary. (Associated Press Photo)

A 40-foot shelf of books on one subject—this is one way to measure the music literature in the Santa Ana public library. It contains approximately 400 volumes, ranging from text-books for beginners to valuable collections of symphonies and operas for professionals, plus biographies of noted composers whose lives and logic provide evidence that in music, as in other fields of art and science, there is no such thing as something for nothing.

There are also novelties appealing to non-professionals who find music a wholesome hobby; while one of the recent additions to this department of helpful knowledge in the local library happens to be Scribner's Radio Music Library.

Besides these widely varied volumes devoted directly to music and musicians, the library contains thousands of music-appreciation features in works of poetry and prose, fact and fiction. Twenty-three centuries ago, for example, Plato pointed to music and mathematics as parallel paths toward a clear understanding of government's vital principles. Today's Einstein finds his violin an inspirational aid in his efforts to spread the gospel of peace, harmony, inquiry-mindedness, real balance and natural brotherhood.

Among the hundreds of music-loving seekers and tellers of truth between those two users of the synchronizing triangle of science, philosophy and religion were such humanitarians as Milton, Addison, Macaulay, Goethe, Newton, Shakespeare and Emerson—all humble believers in constructive journalism rather than in destructive jingoism.

Addison, for instance, was a journalist as well as a statesman of truly progressive spirit, who was gifted with deep realization of inescapable responsibility for the right use of power in any form. America's own Emerson, who delved far into the secrets of real education and likewise the laws of genuinely representative government, regarded himself as no more than a sincere "inquirer, experimenter and reporter." Incidentally, that world-citizen appreciater of New England's gifts from nature made extensive use of musical principles to illustrate competent workmanship and other essentials to useful citizenship anywhere.

Public libraries as an aid to renewed justice for music and musicians as friends to general progress are commended by Orange County Co-ordinator Leon Eckles and professional co-workers in the federal music project.

L. A. ALSO WANTS SUSPECT HERE

The Orange county sheriff's office beat the Los Angeles county asheriff's office to the punch on Friday when they arrested J. E. Proctor, 27, Belvedere Gardens, on a charge of grand theft. Within a short time after Proctor was booked at the county jail in Santa Ana, Sheriff Logan Jackson received a teletype message from the Los Angeles sheriff's office, asking Orange county officers to attempt to locate and arrest Proctor on charges of robbery. Los Angeles authorities were informed that Proctor already was in custody.

Friday afternoon Proctor was taken before Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison for arraignment on the grand theft charge, and was held under $10,000 bail. His preliminary hearing was set for March 17.

The defendant is accused of having accepted loans totaling nearly $4000 from Mrs. Lucy Michelini, Anaheim. Mrs. Michelini, who was aware of the fact that Proctor was an ex-convict, told officers she was making the loans in an attempt to help Proctor get a new start on life, but that she had been deceived by him. Mrs. Michelini is the complaining witness in the case against Proctor.

POLICE REPORTS

Pool hall, at 1735 West Fourth street, operated by Phil Zlakit, burglarized Friday night. Thief obtained $2 in pennies, 15 cartons of cigarets, two cartons of chewing gum, two boxes of candy and several bottles of beer. Stolen property valued at $25. Entrance was gained by forcing a side door.

Prowler reported in 200 block, Owens drive, 9:50 p. m. yesterday. Officers investigated, but were unable to find anyone.

Traffic accident at Bristol and Fourth streets, 8:50 a. m. yesterday. Cars involved were driven by Harry Holden Adams, 1215 West Third street, and Noble Fay Bailey, 1705 West Ninth street. Bailey's car was knocked into an ornamental lamp-post, damaging both the car and the post. No one injured.

W. M. Harmon, 1341 South Parton street, reported that while his car was parked at 210 Oak street, yesterday, someone threw a brick through the window and unlocked the door of the car. A purse containing $2 in cash was stolen.

Bob Murphy, 65, living near Pine and Halladay streets, was arrested on charges of petty theft by Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford Saturday afternoon. The defendant assertedly stole property belonging to Mrs. T. J. Harper, 914 East Second street.

LOCAL YOUTH IS S. C. CANDIDATE

Spirited political activities for student body elections at the University of Southern California began last week with the filing of petitions by candidates.

Joe Preininger, 313 South Garnsey street, Santa Ana, is seeking the office of president in competition with three others for the election, which will take place April 14.

In addition to officers of the student bodies of the 23 schools and colleges of S. C., candidates for A. S. U. S. C. include Roy Draper, Norman Johnson and Jim Krueger, for president; Lucy Ann McClean for vice president, and Grace Libby and Ruth Sinclair for secretary, as well as respective all-university class officers.

Happy Birthday

The Journal congratulates the following:

REV. W. C. PARKHAM, 1103 Kilson drive.

MRS. L. K. SUTHERLAND, 952 East Fifth street.

The Journal today extends Saturday congratulations to MRS. JAMES W. DICKSON, 334 Harwood place, Santa Ana.

MRS. GAYLORD PENDLETON, Laguna Beach.

LADIES' AID

Mrs. John Swanner will entertain the northeast section of the First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid at her home, 201 East Sixteenth street, at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

FIVE CRASHES IN COUNTY INJURE 7

Five traffic accidents on Orange county highways this week-end resulted in injury to seven persons, according to reports filed with police and highway patrolmen.

Mrs. Alma Knowlton, 35, of 701 Chestnut street, Santa Ana, sustaind minor injuries at 6:30 p. m. yesterday when the car in which she was riding was struck by a machine driven by R. N. Dugan, 46, Long Beach. The accident occurred near Main and Eighth streets, Santa Ana. According to a report on file at the Santa Ana police department, Dugan was examined by a doctor and pronounced intoxicated. Officers booked him at the county jail on a charge of drunk driving.

Three Machines Involved

A collision at the North Flower street and Santa Ana boulevard Saturday afternoon involving two cars and a light truck resulted in injury to Mrs. J. F. Wann, 1946 West Myrtle street, Santa Ana, driver of one of the cars, and to Miss Melba V. Round, Fullerton, driver of the other car. The truck involved was driven by Harlan A. Anderson, 22, Los Angeles.

John M. Ross, 27, and Dale Harron, 34, both of Escondido, suffered burns at 12:15 a. m. yesterday when Harron assertedly fell asleep and drove his car into the rear of another truck driven by Ross. The collision, which occurred at the intersection of Manchester and Grand avenues, caused Harron's truck to burst into flames. Both men are employed by the firm of Boyle and Son, Escondido. Ross had made a boulevard stop at the intersection, and according to reports filed by highway patrolmen, the driver of the other truck did not see him make the stop.

Crash at El Modena

Miss Claudine Gladys Strohm, 23, Long Beach, and Mrs. Velma Pursey, 35, Anaheim, sustained injuries at 4 p. m. yesterday in a collision at County Park road and Espinosa street, in El Modena. According to a report filed by California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams, Miss Strohm's car collided with a car driven by Kenyon Moody, 25, El Modena. Miss Strohm had attempted to pass the other car, when a third car started out of a service station causing her to swerve into Mrs. Moody's car, she told officers.

A collision at Fourth and Bristol streets last night between cars driven by Harry Holden Adams, 1215 West Third street, Santa Ana, and Noble Fay Bailey, 1705 West Ninth street, Santa Ana, resulted in damage to both cars. However, no one was injured in the collision. Mr. Bailey's car was knocked into an ornamental lamp post at the intersection, damaging the post.

TREASURES SHELL CASE

MANILA, (AP)—One of President Manuel Quezon's prized possessions is a gold-plated shell case, the first fired in the 19-gun salute to him the day he was inaugurated. It was presented to the executive by Rear Admiral E. J. Marquart of the Cavite naval yard.

SEEKS MAN-SIZED COPS

HOUSTON, Tex., March 13. (AP)—Police Chief B. W. Payne of Houston insists no traffic officer should be more than 32 years old, weigh less than 140 pounds or stand under 5 feet, 11 inches tall.

HENRY STARCK, NEWPORT BEACH, KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

TOOK a preliminary peek at the huge harbor celebration they're planning at Newport Beach May 23 and 24 the other day. It sounds good, so far.

Barged — nautical, what? — in and listened to a conference in which plans for the water parade were being discussed—it's going to be the grandpappy of all water parades, if everything works out, and the U. S. Fleet accepts an invitation to enter.

There are going to be divisions and divisions of boats, from kayaks and canoes on up to the most palatial of the yachts—our big worry to date has been how they're going to line 'em up. Harry Hyde, real estater, was worrying about the same thing, but Harry Welch says he's seen lots of water parades, and it's easy—they just follow the leader, and there you are.

The boats'll line up outside the harbor, and at a signal will start for their anchorages—hope too many of 'em don't hit the harbor mouth at the same time!

But, from the plans, it'll be very nicely handled—each division will have a leader, and all pilots will just follow the head man in his division. They'll make a beautiful sight as they steam—no, steam isn't right. Motor cruisers don't steam. As they progress or cruise or proceed into the bay.

Seems that the peninsula, down toward the jetties, will be the best place to watch the parade. After they pass the old Balboa pavilion they'll break ranks and seek anchorages.

But, with all these divisions, they haven't included an equestrian division—we haven't seen a parade in years that didn't have an equestrian division, and it's no time for those Newporters to start being different. Even if they have to put a horse on a barge and float him up the bay, we're going to demand our equine treat.

C'mon, Newport, where's your horse sense?

* * *

We'uns are still of the opinion that someone's missing a good thing—someone like the Native Daughters, or the Historical society, for instance.

About that old Spanish league marker down near San Juan Capistrano.

It's a reminder of the earliest Spanish days of our county, and is really authentic, according to those who know about it. Just three miles this side of the mission town, it's now thrown off to the side of the highway and forgotten. Just a hunk of sandstone.

Wouldn't it make a fine affair to have some thoughtful organization place the marker on a concrete foundation and put a little brass plate on it? It not only marks one league from the mission, but also marks the boundary line of the Mission Vieja, which covered an area of six square miles.

If someone'd become interested, we'd be glad to start a collection, or raise up on our hind feet with lots of ballyhoo. Speak up, somebody!

* * *

Succumbed to the lure of the surf yesterday. Much sunburn and few surf fish, but lots of fun.

Especially when the native of Minnesota arrived for his first direct contact with any ocean. Claimed he'd never seen one before. Grabbed every sea shell in sight and was looking for more, when last seen.

He picked a fine place to dabble his feet in his first ocean—San Clemente. We told him he could take all of it back with him that he could carry, but he didn't believe us, and left with only his seashells. Coming back, though, he claimed.

* * *

Awful mad.

Jim Farquhar, Huntington Beach newspaperman and leader of county publishers, attacks us.

Like this: He claims, contends and alleges that we're "sorrel-topped."

Old Pop Webster says this about sorrel—"The meaning probably coming from the color of dry leaves; (see sear); of a yellowish or reddish brown color; as, a sorrel horse."

So, we're dry leaves, huh?

So, we're of a yellowish or reddish brown color, much as and like a sorrel horse, huh?

Zounds!

Sorrel right, folks. Not really mad, just filling space! (Knew there was a pun mixed up in that word someplace. Just keep on writing long enough, and one pops up, just like that!)

Observe Couple's Wedding Date

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Meyer, 205 North Pine street, quietly celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Davis, Thursday evening.

Following dinner, the guests sang old songs, the same that were sung at the couple's golden wedding anniversary four years ago. Present were Mrs. Maude Jamison and daughter, Yvonne; Mrs. Arthur Meyer, Topeka Kan.; Dr. and Mrs. Burton Meyer, Salem Ore.. and Armysta and Jay Davis.

THREE HURT IN FATAL ACCIDENT

Two Beach Residents in Hospital as Result Of Newhall Wreck

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Henry P. Starck, 46, well-known local resident, who lived at 1912 Court street, Newport-Balboa was killed in an automobile accident near Newhall at noon yesterday. His three companions were also hurt when the machine in which they were riding sideswiped a truck.

Mr. Starck was dead when he was carried into the Newhall hospital. Alphonso Kearns, the driver, also a Newport resident, is in serious condition. He has a possible skull fracture and other injuries. Forrest Jennings. Newport, suffered an injured hand, cuts and bruises. Demrit Standlee, Puente sustained a broken arm and severe bruises in the crash. The men were on a fishing trip.

Lee Bernor, 3018 Glenhurst avenue, Los Angeles, was the driver of the truck.

The body will be brought to the Dixon chapel at Balboa after the inquest and funeral services will be conducted later in the week.

Mr. Starck was a reader in the Christian Science church at Newport and had been a merchant here for many years. He was a member of the Newport Harbor Service club. He leaves his widow, Elsie Starck; a son, Karl Starck and three daughters, Marie Starck Mrs. Joseph O'Quisk and Mrs. Elsie Patterson, all of Newport.

HOLD REVIVALS AT EL MODENA

EL MODENA.—The Rev. Frank Dell, superintendent of California yearly meeting of Friends, held the first of a series of revival meetings Sunday in the Friends' church here.

During the Christian Endeavor period he gave an illustrated lecture on "The Effect of Alcohol on Living Tissue." Following, he gave an illustrated sermon, "Fishers of Men," at the regular evening service. He will give illustrated sermons each night this week except Saturday.

The program is as follows: "Monday, "Mirrors for Christ"; Tuesday, "Making America Safe for Boys and Girls"; Wednesday, "Our God Is a Rock"; Friday, "Broken Vessels." The Rev. J. S. Sorenson is pastor of the church.

Miss Peters Is Feted at Shower

ORANGE.—Mrs. Alvin Klaustermeyer and Mrs. Harold Peters were co-hostesses at a shower Saturday night honoring Miss Lenore Peters at the Klaustermeyer home, 533 Jefferson street. Miss Peters will be married in April to Harry Stock, whose home is in Iowa.

Bridge was played, with Mrs. Emil Peters and Miss Ada Eckhoff winning prizes. Kitchen gifts were presented the bride-to-be.

Present were Miss Ellen Peters, Mesdames Carl Schumacher, John Eggers, Carl Schroeder, John Quandt, Clarence Bandick, Carl Beckman, Arthur Schleuter, Edgar Pargee, Miss Helen Drinkgern, Miss Margaret Fitschen, Miss Lola Aufdemberg, Mrs. Lawrence Leichtfuss and Mrs. August Harms all of Orange; Mrs. Albert Amling, Mrs. Elmer Amling, Miss Ella Klaustermeyer, Miss Evelyn Pargee and Miss Ada Eckhoff, all of Santa Ana.

Son of Orange Couple Ill

ORANGE.—J. Arthur Meyer, Topeka, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Meyer, 205 North Pine street, who has been visiting in California, is a patient in the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, following a major operation performed last week.

His condition is reported only fair. His brother, Dr. Burton Meyer, Salem, Ore., flew to Los Angeles and assisted in the operation.

'Going Native' in Tahiti

To get away from the "mediocrity" of life in the United States, these two Michigan couples, just married, sailed from San Francisco for Tahiti to carry out a long cherished desire to live the simple native life beneath South sea island palms. Left to right: Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Walls. And they are displaying the costumes they will wear under the tropic skies. (Associated Press photo.)

Birthday Cake-Dunking, Non-Swimmers, Mayor of Laguna in 'Coastlines'

By McDONALD WHITE

Dropped in for a chat with Sherman Paddock last Wednesday. He was pecking at his typewriter when I came in. He had that inspired gleam in his eyes that it takes to write up these complex civic activities, a sort of world weariness acquired through long years of trying to please all the people part of the time and still write what he pleases.

Lois Gill, who also adorns Laguna's South Coast News office, poked her head in the door and chirruped, "An Amen Cornerite just called up to remind you that tomorrow is your birthday—and don't forget the cake."

"Oh, I know it," growled Mr. Paddock in an abused tone of voice. "My mother told me a long time ago. And, besides, I ordered the cake three days ago."

That settled that.

This quaint custom requiring each member of Amen Corner to bring a cake on his birthday has withstood the test of time. Not only that, but cake days bring out more members, which eventually results in more chit-chat and serious dunking. Cake dunking is quite proper in this corner. Some say the coffee tastes better through cake than when slurped up through the medium of a provincial do-nut. But it's a matter of taste, with slightly better odds on the cake dunkers.

* * *

Earle Hatheway was on his way to the Ebell jamboree the other evening when he confided the solution to a vexing problem—how to get the general committee for Boy Scouts out to meetings. Seems Laguna is such a busy town, what with civic meetings and social events claiming the attention of the assiduous citizenry at all hours of the day and night, that Earle had difficulty luring his committeemen out to evening meetings. So what did he do but completely outsmart their feeblest abilis by calling breakfast meetings for 7 in the morning at some cafe.

Apparently the scheme is working splendidly, because no wife would demand to be taken places at that semi-conscious hour. And a man is in a tough spot to produce a good reason why he can't make it that early. So we'll have to admit that Earle put the bead on 'em in a most efficient manner.

Mrs. J. W. Rankin says the Community Players' next production will be "The Angel With the Two Faces," by Mears Pitcher of the Pasadena Community Playhouse. Mrs. Marjorie Williason, director, produced this one when she was formerly with the Pasadena group. Only two members of the cast definitely decided upon to date are Gloria Jenkins, fresh from Hollywood, and Gordon Maudsley.

Judging by recent performances of the local players, the group as a whole has taken greater strides this season than at any other time since the movement first began. And it is perhaps significant to note that this sudden blossoming has come at a time when activities of the entire community are gradually emerging from the doldrums.

Rumors bouncing from one tongue to another whisper that Randolph Bainbridge and Ed Eberle may toss their sombreros into the councilmanic race very shortly . . . High o'er the chamber of commerce last week rose the red, white and blue emblem of our still peaceful land, thus establishing a patriotic challenge to the postoffice just across the way. Before the sun had been long up one morning a crew of men from the water office arrived with post digging equipment and soon had planted a shiny new pole into the ground. Thirty-eight feet high it stands, says Mrs. Elsie B. Robinson, secretary to the president.

* * *

Mayor Frank Champion is just "Champ" to little 21-month-old Nancy White. At every opportunity she runs up to the mayor and says, "Heddo, Champ!" At first she was awed by his booming, infectious laugh, but now she tries to compete. Hero No. 1 . . . B. W. Spencer. New associate at Emerald bay. Past president of Ontario chamber of commerce. Looks like a southern colonel. "Mose, mah julep!"

* * *

Townspeople seldom go swimming. Fact. Living on the coast the year round is conducive to athletic indolence. A check-up of local business men reveals that salt water ablutions are completely foreign to fully 95 per cent of them. Most of them report that the ocean has lost its kick for them, others are bored by the thought of a swim. "The old tub's good enough for me."

* * *

Herbert Palmer, vintner and poet, strides along the beach every morning . . . Ed Bliss, back from a trip to San Francisco, Yosemite, Sequoia. Lots of snow . . . Roy W. Peacock seldom looks disturbed about anything . . . Doc Hoffman wears a sweater to the office, and looks awfully comfortable. Prefers abalone hunts in season to swimming. Weighs 217 pounds. "Why should I go on a diet? It cost too much to get it," he says, unleashing a robust laugh.

C. E. Groups Meet at Alamitos

ALAMITOS.—Christian Endeavor societies of Orange county Friends churches were guests of the Alamitos C. E. for a rally and banquet Friday evening with James Moore in charge of arrangements and Clarence Nida as toastmaster.

Welcoming guests was Miss Leah Merchant and the Rev. Charles Moore. Responding were the Rev. Mr. Sorenson of El Modena, the Rev. Sheldon Newkirk, Yorba Linda, and Russell Fury, president of the Midway City C. E. Dr. Willis O. Trueblood, pastor of the First Friends church at Whittier, was the principal speaker.

Music was provided by Maurice Count of Fullerto District Junior college, who played several piano accordion numbers, and Edwin Moore, who sang.

Shower Held in Alamitos Church

ALAMITOS. — Complimenting Mrs. Wendell Newsom, young women of the Alamitos Friends church planned a surprise stork shower which was held recently at the home of Mrs. Warren Mendenhall at 201 North McClay street, Santa Ana. Assisting Mrs. Mendenhall with plans for the affair were Miss Pearl Morgan and Miss Catherine Miller.

Prizes for games were won by Mrs. Clarence Rice, Mrs. Victor McClain, Miss Mabel Bumgardner and Miss Dorothy Barnes. Others attending were Mesdames Ralph Broady, Rudolph Rez, Donald Schurr, Wendell Jones, James Waitex, Misses Margaret Smith, Marjorie Edwards, Ferne Morgan, Mary Druce and Bertha Hodgkinson.

Pair Honored at Barber City

BARBER CITY. — Mrs. Alice Bennett Threader was hostess at an afternoon party recently, complimenting Mrs. Evelyn Marshbanks and Mrs. Ruth Senneck.

Guests were Mrs. Flo Phelps, Mrs. E. W. Johnson, Mrs. A. N. Olson, Mrs. Ruth Goble, Mrs. Margaret Prindle, Mrs. Alex Hemphill, Mrs. Helen Laden, Mrs. E. B. Finley, Mrs. Ray Finley, Mrs. Homer Hilborn and Mrs. Ben Upham.

WOMAN HURT ON ROCKS

Ontario Resident Falls While Escaping Wave At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH.—Mrs. Scott Walter, 50, Ontario, suffered deep facial lacerations when she fell on jagged rocks on the point at Diver's cove Sunday afternoon. Confused by the sudden onrush of a large wave, Mrs. Walter stumbled while hurriedly seeking a safer position on the rocks.

She was rushed to the Laguna Beach emergency hospital, where first aid was administered by Dr. B. B. Mason.

BEACH MEN WIN AT BOWLING

LAGUNA BEACH.—Ten crack bowlers from Beverly Hills came to Laguna Beach on Saturday to meet local players in a series of morning and afternoon games. Of the five informal games of doubles played in the morning, Laguna won all but one, which was skipped by Fred Aufdenkamp.

By afternoon they got down to business and played two 12-end games of triples. The first game J. G. McNichol, Andy Hall and Bill Saunders, skip, played Sam Kennedy, Joe Kennedy and Jim Kennedy, skip, of Beverly Hills. Laguna won 12 to 8.

Ted Cook, Jack McCrea and "J. B." Andrews, skip, bowled with Don Duggan, Jim Duggan and Bill Ludlow, skip, of Beverly Hills, in which the visitors won, 12 to 8.

Lee Galloway, Bill Turner and Harl S. Kittle, skip, played Arthur Haines, H. T. Hovey and O. N. Beasley, skip, Beverly Hills. Laguna won, 13 to 7.

In the second game, J. G. McNichol, Andy Hall and Bill Saunders, skip, played Don Duggan, Jim Duggan and Bill Ludlow, skip, the visitors. Laguna won, 18 to 8.

Lee Galloway, Bill Turner and Harl S. Kittle, skip, bowled against the visitors, Sam Kennedy, Joe Kennedy and Jim Kennedy, skip, Laguna winning, 15 to 9.

Grove Minter, C. C. Cravath and L. F. Mallow, skip, finished the matches by winning 12 to 4 over Arthur Haines, H. T. Hovey and O. N. Beasley, Beverly Hills.

Change Date for P.-T. A. Ceremony

ORANGE.—Date of the joint installation of all P.-T. A. officers in the Orange district has been changed from April 1 to April 2, it has been announced by Mrs. Marie Flippen, P.-T. A. community council president.

A conflicting meeting made the change necessary. The installation will be made in the Woman's clubhouse, and will be preceded by a 6:30 o'clock dinner, with all members and friends of the association invited to attend. Anyone wishing reservations has been asked to call Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim before March 31.

Orange Reserves On Snow Trip

ORANGE.—Freshmen Girl Reserves held a snow party at Mount Baldy all day Saturday, with coasting one of the major sports. Miss Hazel Morrow, Charles Robinson and J. Carnes took cars, and chaperoned the party.

Those who took the trip were Marjorie Carnes, Virginia Hewett, Rosemary Hart, Betty Collins, Wanda Kennedy, Gladys Quinn, Helen Dell, Helen Tart, Charlotte Morrow, Shirley Wade, Beverly Bertman, Margaret Mansur and Laurine Quandt.

Friends Feted At G. G. Party

GARDEN GROVE.—Miss Louise Smiley entertained a group of friends at a St. Patrick's party Friday evening at her home on North Euclid avenue, at which Jean Holt, dressed in Colonial costume, entertained with readings. Prizes for games were awarded Misses Dorothy Barnes and Gertrude Allen.

Other guests were the Misses Helen Gillestie and Rose Mary Flippen, Santa Ana; Linda Stranske and Mary Eleanor Speilman, Anaheim.

Midway Buffet Club Meets

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor were hosts Saturday night to the Buffet Supper club. Bridge was played following supper, with high score prizes won by Mrs. Marcus Jungjohann, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. Wheeler Birdwell, Mr. Jungjohann, J. H. Pryor and Gale Dunstan.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. William Sweems, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Basse, W. E. Moore, Mrs. Gale Dunstan and Wheeler Birdwell.

Water Parades To Feature Harbor Opening Fete

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Two water parades will be among the highlights of the celebration and formal opening of Orange County harbor May 23 and 24, it was announced by Commodore Albert Soiland, following the dinner-meeting of the board of directors Saturday evening.

A gigantic display of fireworks Saturday evening with music and bands on boats and floats traveling around the harbor from 7 to 9 p. m., and a carnival at Newport, are among the outstanding features planned for the nautical affair, it was announced.

While the greater portion of the Pacific fleet will be at sea during the celebration, at least two navy vessels are expected to participate in the parade, Commodore Soiland said.

Special boat races for six-meter and other classes, for star boats, snowbirds and flatties will be planned by the committee on races headed by William Bartholmae, jr., J. M. Webster and Douglas Mackinnon. Kayak events, stunts and races will be staged in the bay near Corona Del Mar.

Anchorage and landings committees will prepare special pamphlets and maps designating areas and giving full information regarding sources of water, and other supplies as well as where and when shore boats and garbage boats will be available. The committee is headed by Dr. Howard Seager, former collector of customs at Los Angeles harbor; City Engineer R. L. Patterson and Harbor Master Thomas E. Bouchey.

The financial committee, headed by A. B. Rousselle, plans to raise $5000 to handle the celebration. Others on the committee are City Treasurer J. A. Gant, Supervisors Willard Smith and W. C. Jerome; City Councilmen Irving George Gordon, Lloyd Claire and Paul Ellsworth; Paul A. Palmer, J. A. Backs, county clerk; John F. Jardine; George A. Rogers; W. H. Spurgeon, president of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce; William Schumacher, Buena Park; Walter S. Spicer, A. J. Twist, W. L. Jordon, James Sleeper, county assessor; Harry Lake, Garden Grove; John Knox, Santa Ana, and James Irvine.

SAN JUAN CLUB MEETING TOLD

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Woman's club members will hold their regular luncheon meeting tomorrow in the parlors of Community church, with Mesdames Aaron Buchheim, Buddie Forster, Guy Williams, M. E. Walters, F. W. Rogers and Paul H. Esslinger as hostesses.

Tomorrow's meeting is the annual birthday meeting of the club. Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, past president of the federation, will be the speaker.

Brea Clubhouse Is Dedicated

BREA.—With more than 200 attending, dedication ceremonies for the new Brea Woman's clubhouse were held here Friday evening. E. R. Guy was master of ceremonies, with Mayor L. A. Hogue offering an official welcome to guests.

Mrs. Phoebe Spensley, oldest active member of the club, officiated at a ceremony which served to introduce the county WPA orchestra. Mrs. Gladys Goodwin, club president, received a flag from the Brea post, American Legion, presented by Ralph Nicodemus.

Speakers during the program were Speaker of the Assembly Ted Craig; Mrs. Archibald Edwards, Fullerton, president of the Orange County Federation of Woman's clubs; LeRoy Lyon, third district supervisor; Fred Sidebottom, county treasurer; W. C. Churchill, foreman of the building; Clyde Baxter, Santa Ana, WPA official, and Dr. George Warmer, Santa Ana.

Mrs. O. S. Close, a past president, gave a history of the program to obtain a building, and W. W. Hay, a member of the building committee, told of activities which made the new building possible.

MIDWAY CLUB HEAD FETED

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. B. L. Kirkham, first president of the Midway City Woman's club, was presented a life membership at the birthday dinner given by members of the club on the ninth anniversary of the club's organization recently. Special honor was paid to past presidents, Mrs. Kirkham, Mrs. J. A. Houlihan, Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. Chester Campbell and Mrs. J. H. Pryor. Mrs. N. A. Noble, the second president, is now living in Lancaster and could not be present.

The Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the Christian church of Huntington Beach, was speaker of the evening, and gave a talk on "International Relations."

Former Midway Residents Return

MIDWAY CITY. Mr. and Mrs. Murray Harrison and daughter, Joan, former residents of Midway City and now living in Palm Springs, were guests of friends here yesterday.

Mrs. N. A. Nelson and Mrs. Paul Severson were in Placentia Friday attending the presidents' council of the P.-T. A.

Mrs. Anne Van Steenbergh, who has been seriously ill for the past 10 days, is slightly improved.

David Dozier on Hawaii Trip

ORANGE. David Dozier, son of Mrs. W. F. Crist, sailed Saturday evening from Wilmington harbor from Hawaii, for an indefinite stay. He has been employed for the past three months in San Francisco, and before sailing spent a day with his mother.

PROTECTION TOPIC AT MEETING

South Coast Body Hears Joe Sherman Talk on Fire Prevention

LAGUNA BEACH.—Joe Sherman, county fire warden, addressed 50 members of the South Coast Improvement association on fire protection in the southern district Saturday evening. He reviewed conditions that exist at the present time and told what has been done in the past in the way of tightening building restrictions and lessening other hazards.

H. O. Spencer was elected president of the garden section, taking the place of W. C. Watkins, who resigned. It was reported that 25 members recently held an "exchange day" meeting at the home of Mrs. George E. Grant. Plants and flowers of many varieties were traded.

A committee from the Townsend club and 849 club of Three Arch Bay met with the association to hear Mr. Sherman's report of district fire protection and to discuss these problems. Capt. George Portus, president of the South Coast Improvement association, urged that committees make a report of their survey at the next meeting.

START CYPRESS SCHOOL WORK

CYPRESS. — Construction work on a new elementary school building and remodeling of the former auditorium and classrooms was being rushed here today, following passage of a $38,000 bond issue and award of a like amount of PWA funds.

The auditorium will seat about 400 pupils and will be a completely modern building, and should be completed by Aug. 15, according to the contractor, W. E. Allen, Long Beach, who started work on the $55,000 project last week.

County Grange To Meet at Grove

GARDEN GROVE.—The county Pomona Grange has been invited to meet with the Garden Grove Grange tomorrow evening in the Woman's clubhouse. The meeting will open at 7 o'clock when the local group wil hold a short business session.

All subordinate Grange members not affiliated with the county group have been urged to attend, according to the local master, J. M. Long.

Pair to Fete P.-T. A. Group

WESTMINSTER.—Mrs. N. A. Nelson and Mrs. Ray Finley, president and first vice president of the Westminster P.-T. A., will entertain at a tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of grade mothers at the home of Mrs. Nelson in Midway City.

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

IRIS LANNING had the right family, the right background and everything to go with them—except money. "It's the thing," she said, "that makes people have a chance to be what they were meant to be."

Suddenly, as if in answer to her dreams, a millionaire aunt appeared and whisked her off from her small Pennsylvania town into the midst of sophisticated, artistic and literary New York.

"You'll have to let me work up to being a sophisticate by degrees," Iris said. "I've been living in the sixties or nineties or something like that."

She was sure she could repeat the Cinderella story and wouldn't listen to Morgan, who had money and hated it and who tried to make her see there was no pot of gold under the rainbow.

Here is a delightful romance told with Miss Widdemer's never-failing graciousness, charm and lightness of touch.

Purely personal observations:

To be handed the managership of a National league nightball team is one of the toughest of modern sports assignments . . . witness the weary, haggard look on George Lackaye's face . . . even though the season hasn't even started . . . Among the assorted worries confronting Manager Lackaye and others of his fraternity are players, players contracts, schedules, finances, politics, and gun-jumping sports writers . . . the last named often being the most poisonous to the prexys.

* * *

The Sacramento Senators are a "rookie" club despite their week-end record of one 8-5 win and one 5-4 loss to the omnipotent Los Angeles Angels . . . Reason: Two players that we know who are riding high on the Sac squad couldn't make the grade with the Portland Beavers last year . . . One is Guerney Jones, screwy left-handed pitcher; the other is Hal Doerr . . . The Beavers needed moundsmen but Jones wouldn't do; the Beavers were without a second string catcher, but peddled Doerr, who has some possibilities, to Los Angeles . . . He has since gone over to the Sacs.

Paul Wright is doing a top job of handicapping the junior college track meets for this page . . . He studies the records and performances at his alma mater with all the consistency of a true expert and lines up the probable point totals, win, place and show winners much to the satisfaction of Journal readers.

It will take Chief Chewchki, gypsy menace, to restore wrestling at Sam Sampson's arena. Sam tells us he will not be frozen out of his highway spot, defying recent attempt of the rassling trust in Los Andelec to do just that . . . Sampson believes those who book the wrestlers for their local appearances had a friend they wanted to put in Sam's profitable seat in this county, but that after a hot tongue lashing they backed down, promised once more to give him top performers. Tonight's lineup is better than for the past three weeks. This Chief Chewchki guy has sold out the Long Beach municipal arena two weeks running . . . and once with Man Mutton Dean.

This department was wrong Saturday in observing that the sometimes pleasant pastime of playing the ponies had dwindled in popularity here with the demise of the Continental Turf agency and the end of the Santa Anita season . . . Virtually as much wagering is going on, indications are, but much of it is sub rosa.

Rickey Still Wants 'Loyalty Oats'

BRANDENTON, Fla., March 16. (AP)—Branch Rickey still insisted on the "loyalty oats" from Dizzy Dean today.

The St. Louis Cardinal vice president, discussing the Dean holdout situation, said he had not receded from his position that Dizzy's attitude toward his work and his team spirit constituted the issue.

Rickey asserted the difference of opinion over the pitcher's baseball pay is a lesser matter.

"I will not say how high the Cardinals will go, but the salary is not the issue," he said.

In his opinion, he said, Dizzy had not shown the right spirit toward the ball club's welfare, and declared the pitcher must promise Manager Frank Frisch the fullest cooperation.

Dizzy, at his home here, has said he "could not understand why such accusations were made, as I've always given my best efforts to the club, and everyone knows it."

He is holding out for $40,000.

Millionaire Red Sox Must Beat Prosperity To Score

By PAUL MICKELSON

SARASOTA, Fla., March 16. (AP)—Boston's million dollar Red Sox must beat one of the toughest "pitchers" of them all to make good their boast of running away with the American League pennant this year.

They have to bat—and bat hard—against prosperity.

Except for a question or two about the pitchers, who give every indication of coming through, the team has championship class written all over it. But can it stand prosperity, pull together and keep going at full stream? That's the big question.

Wrong, Says Joe

Most experts believe the team, like an all-star aggregation, will get lazy and lose its chance to a hustling club like Detroit or Cleveland. Manager Joe Cronin insists they are wrong.

Here at Sarasota pervades probably the most aristocratic atmosphere in baseball training camp history. Meals are served in full courses, the players are cheered like trans-Atlantic heroes when they drill. They change clothes two or three times daily and work out two hours every morning.

Cronin has made a flat prediction he has the team to beat.

No Bear Stories

"Let them take pot shots at us, let them hoot and holler," he said softly. "We've got the best team in the American League and we think we are going to win the pennant, so why try to walk around with bear stories on our lips?

"Furthermore, I don't see where they get the idea that we have an old men's club here. Of the probable regulars, Manush is the only man over 30, except for Walberg and Grove. I'll come out right now with the prediction that we think we can win in 1936, '37 and '38. We've got a young ball club and we're building for the future—not just for 1936."

Cronin is planning on Grove, Wes Ferrell, Johnny Marcum, and Fred Ostermueller to make up his "big four" among the pitchers. Joe Cascarella, Walberg, Johnny Welch and Manuel Salvo probably will complete the hurling crops.

The Red Sox probably will open the season with this powerful lineup: Mel Almada, Dusty Cooke or Art Graham, right field; Roger Cramer, centerfield; Manush, left field; Foxx, first base; Cronin short stop; McNair, second; Bill Werber (still a holdout), third, and Rich Ferrell, catcher.

"Werber will sign up all right," said Cronin, "but if he shouldn't, John Kroner might be a capable substitute there. He looks like a comer to us."

HERMAN AND KIBBONS TO TANGLE

Array of Villains Faces Nice Boys in Local Mat Performance

It's four of one and a quartet of the other at the Highway 101 arena tonight.

Headed by "Dirty Dick" Daviscourt, ace mat-ador villain, four of the most ribald roughers in the rassling racket line up against an even number of nice, likeable, capable chaps for tonight's wrestling performance at the Orange County Athletic club.

Daviscourt, whose "reign of terror" was punctured rather ineffectually by Champion Vincent Lopez a few weeks ago, comes back to the three-fall main event to take on Casey Columbo, super-scientific performer. If both boys were just wrestlers they would go into tonight's battle on about even terms, but Daviscourt has an ability to be uncommonly rough and get away with it, therefore he has the better chance of the two.

Columbo, however, is known for his upsets—particularly, of rough, unscientific opponents—and will provide Daviscourt with a very full evening, it is believed. The Santa Monica tug artist is very popular here, while Daviscourt is very vice versa in this respect.

Even more hated than Daviscourt, though, is Ad (Bomber) Herman, German choke artist, who is villain No. 2 on the program. Herman, an ace crowd-baiter, takes on Ev Kibbons, Oklahoma wild man, in a feature rematch. Herman won a widely contested decision over Kibbons in their first meeting, but likely will get his ears pinned back tonight. Kibbons is main event material while Herman takes a combination comedy relief and "heavy" role. This bout will outdo the main event in action, veteran ringsiders believe.

In the two other one-fall battles Tony (Rough-'em-up) Felice meets corpulent Al Mills and Bill Grubbs, another of the nasty boys, meets certain fate in clever, crowd pleasing Pat McGill, he of the fancy maneuvers.

L. A. J. C. EARNS COURT TITLE

Los Angeles Junior college, coached by Dave Ferrell, won the Southern California association basketball crown from Jesse Mortensen's Riverside Bengals of the Eastern conference, 23 to 21, at Whittier Saturday night.

Riverside was beaten in a nip-and-tuck thriller, the "rubber" game of a series which opened with a Los Angeles victory and was extended to three games when Riverside won a 42-41 hair-raiser in mid-week. Merle Harris was high for the Bengals with nine points.

| Los Angeles (23) | Pos. | (21) Riverside |

BEACH TRACK MEET LURES 400 BOYS

Four hundred athletes from 25 prep schools will congregate on Huntington Beach High school field Saturday afternoon for the 15th annual running of the Southern Counties Invitational track-and-field festival.

Complete entries for the major event will be released early this week by Harry M (Cap) Sheue, Huntington Beach track and football coach, and chief director of the cinder carnival.

Breeding Holds Record

Harold Breeding, long-striding miler, ran a 4 min. 29.4 secs. race in the four-lap grind in '28 for the only place Santa Ana holds on the Southern Counties record books, although Captain Bill Hawkins, hurdler now at Stanford, brought further distinction to the Saints by winning high-point honors last season. He was first in the high hurdles, second in the low timbers.

Saints Entered

Chaffey is the defending champion, and will rate co-favorite with San Diego in the 1936 meet.

Reece H. Greene, Saint coach, plans to enter a complete team from Santa Ana High school. Captain Blas Mercurio, capable of 6.2 or better, will be a leading threat in the high jump, and Leonard Stafford, who has done 12.6, should place well in the polt vault.

The all-time Southern Counties records:

100-yard dash—Koenig, Huntington Beach, 1929, and Helman, El Monte, 1935, 9.8 secs.

220-yard dash—Koenig, Huntington Beach, 1929; Pollack, San Diego, 1933, and Helman, El Monte, 1935, 21.8 secs.

440-yard dash—Gillette, El Centro, 1933, 49.5 secs.

880-yard run—De Lapp, Montebello, 1935, 2 min. 2 secs.

Mile run—Breeding, Santa Ana, 1928, 4 mins. 29.4 secs.

120-yard high hurdles—Peton, Chaffey, 1930, 15.3 secs.

220-yard low hurdles—Kirkpatrick, El Centro, 1934, 23.4 secs.

Broad jump—Montgomery, El Monte, 1935, 22 ft. 8 in.

High jump—Schindler, San Diego, 1934, 6 ft. 5⅛ in.

Shot put—Raitt, Fullerton, 1935, 52 ft. 3 in.

Pole vault—Miller, San Diego, 1929, 13 ft. 3 in.

Half-mile relay—San Diego, 1932, 1 min. 31 secs.

SAC ROOKIES TRIP ANGELS

By the Associated Press

SAN BERNARDINO.—Satisfied—but hardly elated—over splitting a two-game week-end series with the Sacramento "step-children," Manager Jack Lelivelt started shaping his Los Angeles ball club for the Chicago White Sox. Jimmy Dykes brings his outfit here next week-end.

* * *

VENTURA.—The Portland Beavers picked up their belongings today and moved to a new training camp at Stockton, hoping to find sunnier weather.

* * *

RIVERSIDE.—There was something of a sly grin on Bill Killefer's face as he marshalled his Sacramento "sandlotters" into practice. The "rookies," so called by President W. C. Tuttle of the Coast league, dropped a hard-fought 5 to 4 decision to Los Angeles yesterday. But the day before they trounced the Angels, 8 to 5—with Prexy Tuttle witnessing the upset from the stands.

Gould Views U. S. Olympic Chances, Likes Metcalfe

(This is the first of a series on America's outstanding Olympic track and field prospects, based on developments of the winter season and prospects for the summer campaign leading to Berlin. They represent the views of the country's foremost coaches, as given to Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor, who has covered the last three Olympics and is booked to accompany the American team abroad this year.)

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette graduate student whose flying feet slipped up on the threshold of Olympic conquest four years ago, is the outstanding choice of America's foremost track coaches for international honors in the Berlin games this summer.

"Metcalfe should breeze in this time," says Robert (Dink) Templeton, Stanford's outspoken coach, in picking the runner who has captured seven out of eight available national outdoor sprint titles in the past four yearss.

Country's Best

"The big Negro is coming along without the strain of a college season, just as Eddie Tolan did in 1932. Metcalfe's powerful physique will carry him through the grind and make him this country's best bet to retain spring supremacy."

But what about Ohio State's Jesse Owens, who equalled the world 100 yard mark of 9.4 and lowered the 220 yard record to 20.3 seconds in one dazzling afternoon of unprecedented performances last spring, or Eulace Peacock, Temple's holder of national broad jumping as well as 100 meter honors?

Templeton doubts if Owens, less rugged than Metcalfe, can withstand the pressure, especially on heavier European tracks. He rates the Buckeye bullet "tops" in the broad jump. Other coaches, including Bernie Moore of Louisiana State and Dean Cromwell of Southern California, bracket Owens with Metcalfe for the Olympic sprints. His own mentor, Larry Snyder, says:

Owens' Program

"Owens will run the 100 meters, 200 meters and will broad jump, if the final tryouts are arranged so that he will not have to run too many heats in the dashes. He will need to broad jump only on Friday to clinch a place, if he is as good as he was last year (when he leaped to a world record of 26 feet, 8¼ inches). That will enable him to concentrate on the two dashes Saturday. The Olympic program is so spread that he can easily compete in the three events if he qualifies and he will qualify."

In any event it appears the American Negro's dominance of world sprint championships, first asserted in 1932 at Los Angeles, will continue. Four years ago, diminutive, bespectacled, Eddie Tolan, graduate of Michigan, scored an Olympic "double," beating Metcalfe by an eyelash in the 100 meters and capturing the 200 easily, with George Simpson of Ohio State second and Metcalfe, victim of a bad start, running third. Tolan is now professional.

HEFFRON NIGHT CARD READY

With eight navy amateur fighters from the U. S. S. Idaho's famous fighting stable scheduled to appear, a 10-bout program, instead of the usual eight-bout bill, will be offered boxing fans Friday night at the Orange County Athletic club.

The program will be dedicated to Jimmie Heffron, veteran sports editor of the Anaheim Bulletin, who is confined to an Anaheim hospital with injuries received in a recent automobile collision.

Sailor "Buck" Kimball, good-looking Idaho heavyweight who was introduced prior to last week's main event, climbs into the firing pit in the main event against Henry Lowe, giant 200-pound Negro, who won a four-round fight from Lupe LeMon last week.

Kimball holds a win over Lowe's stablemate, Art Johnson. The Johnson scrap last month was Kimball's first in this sector.

The Anaheim American Legion post reports a tremendous advance ticket sale already has been registered and that legion posts throughout the county are selling tickets for the "Jimmie Heffron" night.

Both Fred (Porky) Bell and "Jungle Jim" Woodroof will be seen in action on the coming card. Promoter Sampson announced today the complete card will be released tomorrow.

DENVER COURT TOURNEY DUE

DENVER, March 16. (AP)—Big guns of the National AAU basketball tournament will be wheeled into action tonight.

Two of the teams favored to take the 1936 championship away from the Santa Fe Trails of Kansas City will clash with their initial opponents of the basketball marathon—the Denver Safeways with the Marine Corps outfit from San Diego, Calif., and the Globe Refiners, McPherson, Kan., with Royal Hearts, St. Louis.

The defending champions won't get started until tomorrow. Their first adversary is the winner of the Phillips University-Western State, Colo., college game, slated for 2 p. m. today.

The California "Devil Dogs" put on an entertaining show of smart basketball in beating Oberlin, Kan., 54-42, yesterday.

Returns from the fur catch at Port Neches, Texas, this season are expected to approximate $300,000.

National Nightballers To Sponsor Girls Teams Soon

Preliminaries to National Night Ball league games will be played by feminine softball nines now being organized, and it is probable they will be sponsored by every men's franchise in the National wheel, it was learned today.

Meanwhile, approximately 25 girls, clad in shorts of every color, reported at the Municipal bowl Saturday afternoon for the first of a series of workouts leading up to the selection of a team to be sponsored by Jim Detrihxe of the Green Cat cafe.

Orange and Anaheim plan to join the Green Cat and Tiernan's typewriter company of Santa Ana in developing teams. It is believed Huntington Beach, Olive and Westminster will be interested in organizing other nines for preliminaries to National league games.

A second diamond is being laid in the north end of the Municipal bowl, where the men's teams will take their batting and fielding practice while the girls are entertaining the fans between 7 and 8 o'clock. Most National league games get under way at 8:15 here.

STRONG LEAD MAINTAINED BY LOCALS

Representation in the annual Southern California inter-club playoffs was virtually assured Santa Ana Country club's sterling divot-diggers today.

Unless they fold up miserably against Fox Hills' No. 2 outfit next Sunday, Dr. Garland Ross, team captain, and his Newport boulevard linksmen are certain to cop the championship of their division.

Santa Ana came over the "hump" at Hacienda yesterday, with the Rossmen defeating San Diego, their leading threat, by a score of 12½ to 8½. This margin elevated Santa Ana to a 10½-point lead over the southerners, 52½ to 42.

Dick Ewert and Earl Wilson, Santa Ana's No. 2 team, suffered a setback, 2½ to ½, but Captain Ross' No. 8 combination of F. E. Farnsworth and M. N. (Nick) Thompson surprised with a 3-0 victory.

Holmes and Foote (SA) 2, Dodge and Foelschow (SA) 1; Ewert and Wilson (SA) ½, Barker and Borthwick (SD) 2½; Wright and McDonald (SA) 2½, Merritt and Summerfelt (SD) ½; Bemis and Coffing (SA) 0, Baeder and Burnham (SD) 3; Robinson and Chapman (SA) 2½, Whitcombe and Cosgrove (SD) ½; Fletcher and Manker (SA) 2, Cox and Allen (SD) 1; Farnsworth and Thompson (SA) 3, Starke and Champ (SD) 0.

CLASS B GOLFERS DOWN WILLOWICK

Santa Ana Country club's Class B golfers scored a decisive victory over their Willowick rivals, 13 to 2, in an Orange county match over the week-end.

Two combinations of the Santa Ana team—Harry Olson and Charles Briscoe, Art Beard and Lester Carden—scored clean sweeps.

Huntington Beach comes to the Newport boulevard course next Sunday for a league match with Santa Ana.

Don Harwood and Ben Osterman (SA) 2½, M. Goodall and Dwight Ainsworth (W) ½; Harry Olson and Charles Brisco (S) 3; Dewey Davis and L. W. Loeschner (W) 0; Ross Hostetler and Bob Miller (S) 2½, L. D. Nelson and MacKinge (W) ½; Art Beard and Lester Carden (SA) 3; Don Mosely and R. Bunce (W) 0; Dean Campbell and J. W. Means (SA) 2, George Walker and R. L. Smith (W) 1. Extra match—Pat Kelley and E. H. Guthier (SA) 3, N. Hall and M. La Satler (W) 0.

SAINTS PREPARE FOR OPENER

Practice jousts with a pair of Orange league schools—Anaheim and Brea—and Glendale's free-lancing Dynamiters will polish Santa Ana High school's attack for its Coast league baseball debut with Long Beach Poly's frisky Jackrabbits here Friday afternoon.

Like the conference inaugural, all three warm-up games will be played at home. Anaheim's Colonists were to be met at 3 p. m. today. S. S. (Shorty) Smith's Brea Wildcats will come here tomorrow afternoon. Glendale is due Wednesday. The Saints will engage in a light inter-squad drill Thursday.

Catcher Duane Teel was to have returned to the Saints today, but further infection to his leg will prevent the snappy little backstop from reporting for at least two weeks; he may be out all season. Ferris Wall will be back of the plate in all four games.

Coach Clyde Cook plans to pitch Jimmy Wilkins, his ace, against Brea and, of course, against Long Beach. Joe Ortega and Lewis Olivas will draw the Brea and Glendale assignments. Erwin Youel will remain at shortstop, and Bob Reid will be developed at first, with Hal Jessee at third, Harvey Hemphill at second.

Unless Joe Kadowaki, letterman, snaps his hitting slump, Coach Cook may send reserve-pitcher Ortega into the outfield with Norman Wyckoff and Art Nieblas. Nieblas has been out of suit with the flu, but is expected back in time for the crucial with Long Beach.

Mako and Budge Take Net Title

BURLINGAME, March 16. (AP)—Burlingame Golf and Country club's invitational tennis doubles title remained safely in possession today of Gene Mako and Don Budge, youthful Davis Cup stars.

They defeated Francis X. Shields and Jack Tidball in a bitterly fought five-set match yesterday, 6-3, 6-1, -8, 4-6, 6-1, to retain the championship first annexed last year.

EXHIBITION RESULTS

SANTA ANANS TRIUMPH IN NET PLAY

Tennis championships came to three Orange county players—Misses Hilda Lange and Marjorie Lauderbach, and Kenneth Ranney—as the result of week-end competition on two courts.

Miss Lange of Anaheim eliminated Mrs. Katherine Williams, 6-4, 8-6, to win the county women's novice tournament in a match at Frances Willard here.

Miss Lauderbach, U. C. L. A. co-ed, and Mr. Ranney conquered Miss Melva Roquet and George Hunter of Anaheim, 6-2, 6-4, in the finals of Fullerton's Invitational mixed doubles championships.

Tournament Director Toby White announced today he has secured 18 entries for Orange county mixed doubles play opening here next Sunday. He anticipates a larger enrollment before entries close next Friday. They may be filed with him or John Cress.

Pairings already made for the tourney, in which a high-ranking player will be teamed with a low-ranking one, follow:

Hilda Lange and Carson Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. White, Marjorie Lauderbach and Bob Mize, Ann Wetherell and Kenneth Ranney, Mary Jane Belcher and Harold Lewis, Phyllis Wetherell and Lewis Wetherell. Entries not as yet paired include Merritt White and Mrs. Gil Ward.

Brazil's manganese exports were 2,300 tons in 1934, but in 1935 rose to 51,819.

J. COATES MAY NOT LEAVE LOCALS

Ace Pitcher Turns Down Offer From Northern Team; Drill Tues.

An out-of-state trip, preferably to Arizona for an exhibition with the Phoenix club that competed in the national championships at Chicago, probably will materialize for Santa Ana's Stars at the end of their National Night Ball league season, The Journal learned today.

"I've been thinking of such a trip for a long time," Manager George Lackaye said, "and if we are fortunate in finishing well in our own league, I plan to ask the commission to send us on a good trip."

A barnstorming tour into Northern California for games with the San Joaquin Valley league might be substituted for the invasion of Arizona.

Pitchers and catchers of the Stars will report to Lackaye for a brief limbering up drill at the Municipal bowl tomorrow night, and the entire roster, including the ex-Anaheim first-baseman, Nan Coots, will report Friday night.

It was learned from a reliable source today that Jimmy Coates, sterling righthander of the Stars, definitely has turned down tempting offers to pitch for Porterville of the San Joaquin Valley league.

Whether Coates will report to Santa Ana, the club that controls him in this league, will not be known until tomorrow night. He is expected, however.

Francis Conrad, brilliant shortstop who is attending Beverly school for boys, a U. C. L. A. prep school, will be in suit when the Stars begin organized drill Friday. "Connie" was in Santa Ana Saturday, and assured Lackaye he would be on hand.

Lemon Coming?

Lackaye or other members of the Santa Ana commission would not verify reports that Francis (Pep) Lemon, Anaheim catcher, is coming to the Stars, although it was learned from an Anaheim source that Lemon will not play with Anaheim, and hopes to be permitted to hook up with either Santa Ana or Westminster.

Luisetti's Scoring Brings Reds Title

PALO ALTO, March 16. (AP)—Champions of the Pacific coast for the first time since 1921, Stanford university basketball players looked back today on a topsy-turvy season climaxed last week-end with victories over University of Washington for the conference title.

Paced chiefly by Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, sharpshooting forward, the Indians took Washington's Huskies into camp Friday and Saturday night to clinch the coast crown in the playoff series between the winners of the northern and southern divisions.

Luisetti collected a total of 53 points in the two games. He rang up 32 markers in 33 minutes Friday night as his team won, 60-39, and added 21 more Saturday night when Stanford won the deciding game 48 to 38.

COURT PLAYER DIVORCED

LONDON, March 16. (AP)—The divorce court granted Edmund Owen Farnley-Whittingstall a decree nisi today against the former Eileen Bennett, international tennis player. The suit was not defended.

Three Wins Put Riskitt 'All Even'; Beatem Loses

BY OSCAR OATS

For the third consecutive day form playing wins out over wild-eyed long-shot predicting. Wynott Riskitt won a net of $25 for his day's efforts at selecting the favorites Saturday—only one of them turned out to be rather a long shot—while Tryan (Plunger) Beatem again went without a single winner.

"Favorites can't keep coming in forever," Beatem chants, "and when one of my sleeper specials crashes through I'll have to carry the money away in buckets."

Riskitt and Beatem are playing the Tanforan ponies—system against system. So far, neither lad has been able to show a profit for his five days of activity, although Saturday's $25 clean-up puts Riskitt square with the board.

Both boys bet $10 on the nose of each of their eight selections. Pasha, Special Agent and Greenspring Lad came in for Riskitt—Special Agent paying a surprise $13.20 for win tickets.

Meanwhile the parimutuel machine is gnawing away at the original $2000 bankrolls, making them look like this:

Riskitt, $2000; $1763; parimutuel, $114, or 12 per cent of the $950 wagered so far by the boys.

There are no races at Tanforan on Mondays, so Riskitt will spend the day doping out Tuesday's winners. Beatem has gone to bed with a rabbit's foot, a crystal ball and a bottle of headache tablets.

SIX IN JAIL AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Arrests over the week-end on charges of drunk driving totaled six. The average week-end total of drunk drivers has been four, according to jail records.

Harold Berger, 39, Anaheim, was booked at the county jail Saturday by Anaheim police. He was found guilty in the Anaheim justice court and was sentenced to 50 days in the county jail in lieu of a $100 fine.

Frederick M. Earles, 39, of 940 East Sycamore street, Anaheim, was arrested at 2:35 a. m. yesterday by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey while driving on Santa Ana boulevard.

Albert F. Gray, 37, Pasadena, was booked at the county jail by Huntington Beach police yesterday. He was to spend 25 days in the county jail in lieu of a $50 fine, assessed by the Huntington Beach city judge.

Albert Groenendyke, 68, Pasadena, was booked at the county jail at 5:15 p. m. yesterday following his arrest in La Habra by Constable W. D. Tremaine.

R. N. Duggan, 36, Long Beach, arrested at 6:30 p. m. yesterday by Santa Ana police following a traffic accident at Eighth and Main streets, was held under $250 bail.

Raymond T. Knorr, 29, Los Angeles, was arrested at 8:30 p. m. yesterday by California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge on the Coast boulevard near Laguna Beach. Knorr had assertedly crowded several cars off the highway.

MORE ABOUT GRIFFITH

against it worse than he is. He takes them in and feeds them and takes care of them—somehow. Heroes like that don't get into the headlines. But they make a very warm place for themselves in D. W. Griffith's heart and he likes to tell about them. Real folks. Like you've seen in his movies.

While the talk was going around it was hard to imagine that outside the house a shiny, big car with a chauffeur was waiting for Mr. and Mrs. Griffith. It was hard to imagine that next week they will be entertained at San Simeon, William Randolph Hearst's ranch.

Going To San Simeon

Mr. Griffith wants to take his gal up there to surprise her. She hasn't seen San Simeon. He tells her it's just a ranch where lions run about and roar, and where giraffes stroll around the ranch house, and where William Randolph Hearst has imported a little Italian shrine. They'll go up to San Simeon and "rough it" for awhile. Mr. Griffith's gal doesn't know quite what to think about it all.

Speaking about Kentucky, Mr. Griffith has tried for the past two winters to dedicate a statue there for his father, who was Gen. Jacob Wark Griffith of the Confederate army—the first Kentucky cavalry. But the winters have been so tough and there has been so much snow on the ground that it has been impossible to hold the decication.

General Griffith had the distinction of being the only general who ever led a cavalry charge with a horse and buggy. He was badly wounded and couldn't ride a horse, but he got into the buggy, picked up the reins, clucked to the mare, and she led the first Kentucky cavalry to victory.

Showing "Gal" Around

D. W. Griffith isn't in California to produce another movie. He's here primarily to show his gal around the state. In fact, movies aren't Mr. Griffith's real hobby. He only made them, he said, to get money so he could write plays for the stage. He's written two, now, and hopes to produce the first one in New York. It's about the South.

Mr. Griffith likes to talk about the South. He likes the people. He has spent a lot of time in court rooms, gathering material, watching the people and having a grand time.

Case of "Hawg Meat"

Once there was a trial over theft of 800 pounds of "hawg meat." The circuit judge wanted to get it over with and go on to the next place. All the jury didn't show up, so two men were drafted from the spectators. The jurors couldn't reach a verdict. After a long time they came in and told the judge of their predicament. He pondered a while and thought about sending them back with orders to decide something.

Some of the jurors got pretty worried because it was getting late.

"Judge," one of them drawled, "My wife don't know where I am, and if I'm much later getting home, there will be a battle."

Feared They'd "Bust"

"I didn't milk my cows this morning," put in another anxious juror. "And if I don't get to milk them tonight, they'll bust, judge."

The jury was dismissed.

Just real folks, having a good old home talk yesterday afternoon at 718 West Sixth street. It was hard to imagine that outside the house was that big, shiny automobile, with a chauffeur in it. It was hard to imagine that after a while D. W. Griffith and his gal would get into it and go away.

CURTIS ESTATE $187,000

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP) The late Vice President Charles Curtis left an estate valued at $187,000, chiefly in stocks. This was disclosed when his will was admitted to probate in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Luxury Plane Raised From Salt Lake

Here is a California oil company's luxury air liner, which dropped into Great Salt Lake five months ago with the loss of three lives while on a flight from Oakland, Calif., to Salt Lake City, as it was raised from the briny waters by a railroad derrick. Heavy incrustations of salt were blown from the plane with compressed air before it was lifted to the surface. (Associated Press Photo)

HOPKINS FLAYS HOOVER ERA

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Declaring that New Deal work relief is being assailed "maliciously for political and selfish personal reasons," Harry L. Hopkins entered a two-fold defense today.

In a speech delivered at a meeting of the United Neighborhood Houses and broadcast Saturday Hopkins slashed at the Hoover administration.

"The record of the previous administration," he said, "is characterized by failure to provide work for the millions of unemployed, the failure to take one substantial step to allay the fears and misgivings of a nation."

Turning to the policies of the Roosevelt administration, he said:

"First of all, the hungry have been fed, clothed and housed. That's the first consideration always. But in addition to that we have thousands of miles of new and improved highways and farm-to-market roads; thousands of new and improved schools; thousands of miles of sewer and water and electric lines; thousands of acres of parks, playgrounds, and recreation fields, and new airports by the hundreds.

"Scientific research has been encouraged; tax and municipal surveys made; vast projects in the interest of public health concluded; the making of books in braille for the blind, and music and art and drama projects for the enrichment of our cultural life have been undertaken."

LOCAL KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PLAN MEMBER DRIVE

Plans for a "10 for 1" membership campaign were launched Thursday evening at meeting of the Knights of Columbus at the Green Cat cafe. Charles W. Wolford is local director of the membership drive, which is national in scope. He named marshals to head teams contesting as individuals and groups for the greatest number of new members, beginning tomorrow.

Four meetings of the Santa Ana council will be devoted to special programs connected with the campaign. Knights present at the meeting were the Rev. Thomas Butler, chaplain; Grand Knight Thomas Gisler, Clyde Ashen, Charles Wolford, J. Riley Huber Dr. F. O. Kaps, Ray Whitten, Jerome McCaffrey, Henry Stanley, Edward Murphy, Alfonse Hamann, Martin Marzolf, Scott Cunningham and P. S. Layton.

NEW REMEDY FOR SOCIAL DISEASE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16. (AP)—A new combination of two organic solutions in which sodium bismuthate can be used in an effective treatment of disease has been discovered by research scientists and physicians at Stanford medical school.

The remedy, for use against a social disease, was revealed after a recent meeting of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine.

"We are not ready to speak of complete cures," said Dr. P. J. Hanzlik, "but the treatment appears to be effective. The results obtained have been so encouraging that further experimental trails are clearly advisable."

Starlight Bumps Cosmic Dust, So We Have Static

PASADENA, March 16. (AP)—Beams of starlight bumping into cosmic dust create the radio signals that have mystified researchers, says Dr. R. M. Langer,, physicist of the California Institute of Technology.

For several years researchers have been probing the signals first reported by Dr. Karl Jansky, of the Bell laboratories.

Considerable study has been given the signals here by physicists. Langer's analysis is that the light from stars is scattered from dust particle to dust particle, finally degenerating into radio waves.

MICKEY MOUSE NEEDS HELP

Artists Scarce, Says Disney

HOLLYWOOD, March 16. (AP)—Walt Disney, one movie producer who has no James Cagneys, Mae Wests nor Ann Dvoraks to squabble with him over contracts, still has his talent troubles.

The troubles are so acute, Disney revealed, that he is sending three staff representatives to New York on an "ivory hunt" or talent search.

Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and other Disney stars are never temperamental. They do not ask for salary raises, and they are willing to appear in as many pictures a year as Disney asks. They are under "permanent contract," ready on a moment's notice to be taken from the ink bottle or paint pot and perform.

They Need Directors

But Mickey, Minnie, Donald et al need directors. And Disney, whose recent academy award for animated cartoon achievement was his fourth, is crying for artists who can assure the longevity of his versatile menagerie.

"I need artists—real artists—to train," he says.

Disney's studio advertised up and down the Pacific coast for artists, and received 1700 replies Fifty applicants were deemed worthy of try-outs. Of the 50, only one is still on the Disney staff of approximately 300.

"It takes a real artist," specified Disney, "to fill the bill. A special kind of artist. Many good artists are not fitted for this work. We want men whom we can train to be animators."

Wants $300 Men

The animator, in Disney's plant, corresponds somewhat to the director in a studio with living actors.

The animator lays out the work, plans antics, expressions, "cute touches" for the Disney family of characters. He is more than an artist who can reproduce Mickey or Minnie Mouse in various poses

"I would be glad," he said, "to find men worth what is now our top salary of $300 a week. But they are mighty hard to find."

Shows Need in Alphabet of About 15 New Letters

PORTLAND, Ore., March 16. (AP) Dr. Frank C. Laubach, who has taught a million or more people to read and write, has a way to help the American who gets the jitters using correctly "hear" and "here," "their" and "there" and a lot of other confusing words.

But he has no immediate hopes of making any great progress.

The solution would be to add about 15 new letters to the alphabet and base spelling on sound.

"We need about 41 letters to establish a uniform system of spelling," he said. "For instance the letter 'A' is pronounced eight different ways. We would have to have a new letter for each sound."

There are 36 sounds in the English language and with other additions the total alphabet would run to 41 characters.

"If we did that I venture to say a person could learn English in two weeks," he declared. "As it is no living person can pronounce every word in the Oxford dictionary.

"Ninety-five per cent of the languages of the world are spelled phonetically and if we could revise English accordingly it would become the language of the world much more rapidly."

5 Good Reasons Win Divorce For This Wife

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—Mrs. Edith V. Allen wanted a divorce—and among her reasons were the following allegations:

Her husband put salt in her bed.

Kicked her out of bed.

Threw gin in her face.

Burned her on the neck with a cigaret.

Beat her with a pair of waded pajamas.

She got the divorce.

Piccard Orders New Strato Balloon

WARSAW, March 16. (AP)—Auguste Piccard, the stratosphere pioneer, has ordered a new balloon from the Polish Jablonna factory to ascend to 30,000 meters (about 98,430 feet).

Prof. Piccard intends to try the new ascension somewhere in Poland late this summer. The present altitude record of 72,395 feet was set last Nov. 11 in the United States, by Captains Albert W. Stevens and Orvil A. Anderson of the American army.

MISS DORIS BELLOMY BRIDE IN CHAPEL OF PASADENA CHURCH

Miss Doris Bellomy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bellomy, 1005 West Pine street, was married to Joe C. Parks of 408 Spurgeon street, son of Mrs. Lily Parks of Cypress, at 6 o'clock last evening in the bridal chapel of Pasadena First Methodist church. The Rev. Dr. Merle N. Smith officiated in the presence of 75 guests.

The bride wore lustrous eggshell satin and carried white bride's roses and orchids. Attending her were Mrs. William Giddings in green satin with pink sweet peas, Miss Betty Steelman in gold satin with orchid sweet peas, and Mona Winringer, flowergirl, in entrained pink satin.

Walter Parks was his brother's best man and Paul Kelby and Olin Hooper ushered. Mrs. Blanche Hellhouse accompanied Miss Doris Redfern in singing before the wedding.

A reception followed for 35 guests in the Bellomy home.

The bride wore a smart handknit spring blue and gray tweed ensemble with orchid corsage when she left with her husband on a wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends next week at 314 East Pine street. She is a graduate of Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college, where she was a very popular student.

Mr. Parks is employed by the H. P. Garin company.

TACHING BY PLAY IS TALK TOPIC

"Education Through Play" will be described by Mrs. Clark tomorrow afternoon for members of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher association. They meet at 2:30 p. m., at the school.

Miss Helen Glancy will direct the Frances Willard Junior High school girls glee club in several songs. An Indian program is to be presented by third grade pupils taught by Miss Florence Stanley.

Nominating committee to select new officers will be appointed by Mrs. Ben Beasley, president.

BOOKWORMS TO MEET

Ebell first book review section will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. F. Smith on North Broadway to hear a program by Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, county chairman of literature in the federation of women's clubs.

Bullet Clips Off Appendix, Youth Near Death

BALTIMORE, March 16. (AP)—His appendix clipped off by a bullet that punctured his abdomen, 17-year-old Robert Bryant fought for life today.

Physicians did not discover the strange operation the bullet from a playmate's rifle had performed until they prepared to close the eight punctures in the youth's abdomen. The appendix was "floating" around and all the doctors had to do was lift the organ out.

Bryant, weakened by loss of blood, was given less than an even chance to live.

STATE G. O. P. ASSEMBLY ASKS LANDON TO RENOUNCE DELEGATION

FAVORITE OF JOHNSON IS IN DOUBT

Will Senator Support Borah or F. D. R. in California Race?

By HERBERT A. YOCOM
Associated Press Staff Writer

Speculation as to the part Senator Johnson will pay in the coming presidential election drama increased after Senator Borah's announcement of intentions to go delegate hunting in California.

Because the two senate veterans were able to patch up their differences in a successful fight against the World Court, there are some in the capital who believe Johnson might find it possible to support the Idahoan for the Republican Presidential nomination, and, in November, for the Presidency.

Bolted in 1932

Those who speak of such a possibility are few and far between.

There is a belief, especially among members of the California congressional delegation, that Senator Johnson instead will be found supporting President Roosevelt again as in 1932 when he bolted from Hoover.

They point out that during the past three years President Roosevelt has had few more ardent supporters than Senator Johnson. The friendship has worked both ways—so much so in fact that it has come to be commonly said that "anything Hiram Johnson wants of the New Deal, Hiram Johnson gets;" that he only has to pass the word along to the man in the White House and the job is "as good as done."

Got Water Allotment

A practical example was furnished during the fight last year for the Central Valleys project. Senator Johnson did not enter the battle until others, desparing of victory, appealed to him. He went to the President, with the result that a $20,000,000 allotment was almost immediately forthcoming. This was later reduced to $15,000,000.

Citing this and other instances of the Roosevelt-Johnson relationship, California New Dealers in Washington—and some Republicans too—sum up by saying they cannot possibly conceive of the senator swinging to Borah.

As for the senator—he's letting them guess and apparently enjoying the situation hugely.

EMERGENCY MEALS IS SECTION TOPIC

Emergency meals will be discussed Friday at the Ebell sixth household economics section, meeting at 12:30 p. m. at the clubhouse. Mrs. O. H. Barr requests each member to bring her favorite "emergency meal" menu.

Miss Rosamund Hannah, Southern Counties Gas company representative, will address the section. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. H. C. Trueblood, 854 R, Mrs. J. H. Smart, 992, or Mrs. T. A. Robinson, 5231 R.

HUTTON BABY FIGURES IN FUND PLOT

Extortion Suspect in England Jailed for Kidnap Hoax

MANCHESTER, Eng., March 16. (AP)—Alfred Molyneux, 31, of Lancashire, was jailed today on a charge of attempting to extort $1000 from Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow by pretending to reveal a plot to kidnap her newborn son.

Police said Molyneux had admitted writing a letter during "moments of depression" offering to disclose the "plot." He was remanded in custody for a week.

The prisoner was trapped by police when he went to keep a rendezvous with a "messenger from the countess." He told the police no kidnap plot existed.

Nabbed Saturday

Molyneux was arrested Saturday. The letter went into details as to how contacts between Molyneux and an agent from the countess should be made in Manchester.

On Saturday a detective carrying a dummy package stood at the meeting place while other detectives watched. Molyneux was arrested when he appeared at the stated time and received the package from the detective.

The Haugwitz-Reventlow baby was born Feb. 24 and, by the fact of his birth, became heir to the estates of his Danish father, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, and to the fortune on his American mother's side which is estimated at $20,000,000. The mother's fortune is part of the Woolworth estate.

To Bring Child Here

At the time of the child's birth the British press printed reports that the count and countess would make their home in England on the grounds that they feared kidnapers in the United States.

The count, however, denied these reports and said the child would be taken to the United States in the near future.

Shortly after the boy's birth, the countess became seriously ill and, for a time, her life was in danger.

SCOUT RECORDS ANNOUNCED

Scoutmaster Elmore Lord's Orange 20-30 club troop, Scoutmaster H. S. Bartlett's Huntington Beach troop of Sea Scouts, and Roger Price's Fullerton troop No. 95 attained the highest records of Orange county's 55 troops during February, it was announced today by Santa Ana scout headquarters.

The ratings, which will be released each month, are based upon troop membership, council participation, patrol organization, program planning, outdoor activities (hikes), older boy tenure, proper registration and general scouting advancement.

Mr. Lord, of Orange, assisted by Willard Wright, recently revived the 20-30 club troop of that city with one member, and now boast an enrollment of 46 scouts.

Second-best ratings to the highest three troops were awarded G. W. Bassett's Santa Ana Kiwanis troop No. 23, Al Spencer's Costa Mesa troop No. 6, F. P. Nickey's Santa Ana Rotary troop No. 24, B. F. Moler's Cypress troop No. 76, Karl Parks' Fullerton troop No. 93, William Schweiss' Fullerton troop No. 98, and H. E. Douglas' Placentia troop 100.

PRESBYTERIANS PLAN GROUP ACTIVITIES

There is no idleness in store for Presbyterians this week, if activities centered about the First Presbyterian church are carried out on schedule. Tomorrow the southeast section of the ladies' aid will meet at the home of Mrs. E. F. Gaebe, 212 East Chestnut street, at 2 p. m. Between 3:30 and 4:30 p. m., junior choir members will give a concert and party for their mothers.

Wednesday evening will be family night at the church, with a pot-luck supper preceding services and showing motion pictures. Senior choir rehearsal is set for 7:45 p. m.

On Thursday the ladies' aid southwest section is to meet with Mrs. R. W. Ewert, 802 South Ross street. The junior high choir will rehearse at 3:15 p. m. and the young people's group at 7 o'clock.

OLD RESIDENT HERE SUCCUMBS

Death claimed Mrs. Mary L. Platt, a resident of Santa Ana for 24 years, at her Spurgeon street home yesterday. Widow of the late Herbert F. Platt, with whom she came here in 1912, Mrs. Platt was a native of Montreal, Canada.

The 72-year-old woman had been ill about 10 days before her death. Relatives living here are a son, George H. Platt, and a brother, James H. Scott.

The Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, will conduct funeral services at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Winbigler mortuary. Burial will follow at Fairhaven cemetery.

J. C. Y. W. DISCUSSES CAMPUS PROBLEMS

Friendliness, cheating and "apple polishing" at the junior college were considered by the school Y. W. C. A., meeting for pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. Jennie L. Tessmann, Ruth Warner led the discussion.

Jean Tradewell lead devotionals, preceding business session. Group singing, directed by Alice Compton, concluded the meeting.

HARMONY IN PARTY HERE IS SOUGHT

Stand Is Renewed for Uninstructed Group To Convention

FRESNO, March 16. (AP)—The California Republican Assembly sought an answer today from Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas to its request that he renounce a California delegation pledged to his presidential candidacy in favor of an uninstructed slate.

The unique situation arose from an emergency meeting of the assembly seeking to assure party harmony in the face of possibly three competing national convention delegates at the May 5 presidential primary.

Reaffirms Policy

The assembly, a statewide organization of some 9000 younger Republicans, reaffirmed its stand for an uninstructed convention delegation. Such a slate also is favored by former President Herbert Hoover, titular head of the Republican party.

Southern California backers of the Kansas governor, however, have announced a slate pledged to him which will be on the May 5 ballot, and supporters of Senator William E. Borah have announced they will enter delegates pledged to the Idaho senator.

Included on the proposed Landon slate are 14 members who have backed Gov. Frank F. Merriam as a presidential candidate. The California governor titular head of the state Republican party, recently announced he would support Landon's candidacy.

Still Seek Slate

A committee appointed by state central committee chairman, Earl Warren, continued attempts to draw up a slate of uninstructed delegates.

The assembly meeting here yesterday was informed "adjustments and compromises" are being made in the proposed uninstructed slate to make it a cross-section of Republicanism in California and to "harmonize" the party in the state.

Assertions of Landon supporters that an uninstructed delegation would be controlled by Hoover, Warren and National Committeeman Mark Requa drew quick denials.

MARKETING TALK IS HEARD BY FARM CENTER

Charles Knowleton, Placentia citrus grower, was the chief speaker Friday night at a meeting of the Placentia Farm center He read a short paper on the history of cooperative marketing organizations, declaring that cooperatives formed for special purposes usually have lasted longer than those formed for general functions.

Fifty-seven per cent of the cooperatives have lasted 10 years or longer, while 43 per cent have lives varying up to nine years, he said

Supervisor LeRoy Lyon of Anaheim, representative of the California Fruit Growers Exchange in connection with operation of citrus by-products plants, gave a talk on the question of canned orange juice.

DELHI 'MAYOR' HAS NEW SON

The stork called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lujan, 304 Adams street, at 1 a. m. today and left a nine and one-half pound baby named Eddie. Eddie is the fifth child in the Lujan family. Mr. Lujan is known as the mayor of Delhi, and is connected with a recreation project of the Works Progress administration at El Modena. Eddie and his mother were getting along very well today, Mr. Lujan reported.

SLAYER TO DIE

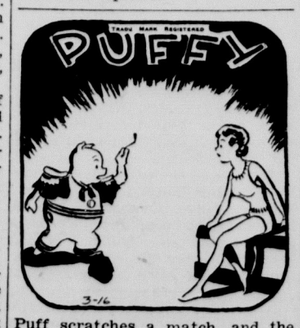
MANCHESTER, England, March 16. (AP)—The hanging of Dr. Buck Ruxton, convicted of the "Devil's Beef-Tub" slaying of his wife, has been set by the Manchester assizes court for April 1.



Puff scratches a match, and the room slowly lights.
And there sits a pretty young lady in tights!
"A circus performer!" Puff shouts in surprise.
"That's right,' says the lady. "What makes you so wise?"

Saved From Electric Chair

George Hayes (left), 21, arrested and identified a few weeks ago as a holdup-slayer in New York, was saved from the prospect of execution when another youth, nabbed after a restaurant robbery, confessed to the crime for which Hayes was held. ## If You're a Blond, It's Too Bad, Says Beauty Judge

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—The data on the question of blonds vs. brunettes vs. red-heads has been brought up to date with an artist's pronouncement that "nobody pays any attention to blonds nowadays."

"There is no doubt about it; the blond has passed," said Russell Patterson, illustrator, designer, puppeteer and beauty contest judge.

"This is a red-haired era; but women's hair gradually is getting darker. In another year or so, everybody will be wanting brunettes.

This is a good thing, he said, for brunettes have been a drug on the market for 15 years, and are getting discouraged.

"Blonds really passed with the flapper, but no one realized it until Jean Harlow and Alice Faye turned up with red hair," Patterson declared.

"Being a blond just now is about the biggest handicap a girl could have.

"Artists aren't using them as models, and they're having a hard time getting into shows. Look at the heads in the chorus lines. They're mostly red and black."

In his sophisticated puppet shows which play in night club bars, Patterson gives the best roles to red-heads "because they're a much rarer type of beauty; their ratio to blonds is about 2 to 40."

PRINTERS OF SOUTHLAND MEET HERE

125 at Typographical Conference; Journal Cup Is Displayed

Printers from throughout Southern California gathered in Santa Ana yesterday for a meeting of the Southern California Typographical conference. The gathering was held in the Modern Woodmen of America hall. Including visitors and wives of the delegates, there were approximately 125 persons present.

One of the features of the gathering was the display of the silver cup recently won by The Journal for having the best editorial page in California this year. The cup was exhibited by H. M. Tedford, foreman, of The Journal composing room.

Topics of general interest to the printing trade were discussed. After the meeting a Dutch lunch was enjoyed.

Carl Jensen of Pasadena is president of the conference, while Elmer Lotz of Los Angeles is secretary. Local delegates were Mr. Tedford, of The Journal, and Frank Stilwell, of the Register.

The committee in charge of the lunch arrangements was composed of Carl Fisher from The Journal, Jack Patison from the Register, and Frank Witmer, representing the job printing branch of the union.

'Cruise to Hawaii' Provides Glimpse Into Fashion's Future for 400 Women

Junior Ebell's Annual Fete Is Triumph

Peacock Room of Club Crowded; Nautical Motif Is Effective

"Ship ahoy!"

Loaded with examples of what the very best dressed woman will wear in this coming summer of 1936, the good ship Junior Ebell cruised into the harbor of Ebell clubhouse Peacock room and came to rest in the annual spring fashion show-bridge tea which attracted 400 clubwomen Saturday afternoon.

The models were smart and self-possessed, the clothes were ultra chic (including those worn by many of the women present as guests) and the entire party was conducive to a happy afternoon.

Perky little fruit corsages went to high scorers in bridge at 100 card tables. Mrs. Colby McKinney, general chairman of the party, in pink lace gown with gardenias, and the various other junior clubwomen workers including Miss Nan Mead, Junior Ebell president, hurried hither and thither tending to needs of their guests.

After the play, pretty party linens decked the tables and molded steamship ice creams were served with little cakes and tea.

Then came the fashion show. Miss Marion Graaf, assisted at the piano by Miss Pauline Rhodes, sang "Estrellita" and a selection from "The Merry Widow."

A Lei Hawaiian trio including Wayne Huffman, Wesley Kirkpatrick and Lloyd Deader played. Other music was provided by the Junior Ebell trio including Rosemarie Flint, violin; Evelyn Schieber, 'cello, and Mary Bruner, piano.

Daintily-frocked Girls Ebelles assisted with details of the serving tables.

The style show, including clothes for every phase of a luxurious summer cruise, was programmed as follows:

SYMPOSIUM ON CHILD CHARACTER-FORCES SLATED AT P.-T. A.

Three mediums for enriching children's character, through understanding of childhood problems, will be disussed in a symposium to be conducted tomorrow afternoon for the Jefferson Parent-Teacher association. The club will meet at 2:30 p. m., at the school.

Principal Aubrey Glines will explain one medium, the schools. Home influences will be considered by Mrs. Harry Brown. Mrs. R. R. Russick, policewoman, will discuss the child's place in the community.

A dessert sale is planned at conclusion of the meeting.

J. F. JACOBYS GO TO ILLINOIS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacoby left Santa Ana Saturday with Mrs. Jacoby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall, to return to the Marshall home in Robinson, Ill.

The guests came to the coast for the winter. After arriving at the Marshall home, the Santa Anans will continue to Detroit, Mich., to take delivery on a new automobile. They will return home through Kansas, stopping in Independence to visit Mr. Jacoby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jacoby. They plan to see other friends and visit various places of interest en route home.

Party Fetes Mrs. J. H. Walker

Mrs. J. H. Walker's 75 years rested lightly on her shoulders as she busied herself receiving congratulations of numerous friends who called at the birthday tea given yesterday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gunning Butler, 1741 Anaheim street, Costa Mesa.

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. W. P. McGuigan, Mrs. Walker's two daughters, shared in the hostessing and used a St. Patrick's motif very effectively in appointing the home.

In an informal program, Miss Mildred Marchant played and gave whistling solos. Mrs. J. T. Williams sang. Miss Elizabeth Woodruff and Miss Mame Havens played piano solos.

Miss Marjory Flower, Miss Barbara Flower and Miss Patricia Butler, granddaughters, and Gunning Butler, jr., grandson of the honoree, assisted in the various details of the party.

White snapdragons in a green crystal bowl and green crystal bases holding white tapers appointed the lace-laid tea table

Mrs. Walker, long a member of Santa Ana Valley Ebell society, 30 years a resident of Santa Ana and prominent in First Baptist church, wore a smart black velvet gown with white corsage.

DON C. EDWARDSES ENTERTAIN CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Edwards entertained their bridge club for its largest session in their home on North Baker street.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Mitchell were guests of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Olin Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Schmid were others present.

The Mitchells won high scores for the evening. Decking the home was a lovely basket from Mrs. J. A. Whitney, a neighbor of the hosts, and other flowers sent by Mrs. Holmes and taken from the garden of Mrs. Edwards.

A delicious dessert course followed the play.

GIRL SEA SCOUTS SEEKING NAME

Although 10 girls have embarked on the new junior college Girls' Sea Scout "Ship," no name for the worthy vessel has yet been found. The prospective mariners met recently at the Pixley cabin in Bakers' canyon to discuss the naming problem.

A short hike, informal meeting and refreshments were enjoyed by Elizabeth Borchard, Barbara Hallman, Frances Was, Helen Marshall, Barbara Lebeck, Dorothy Griset, Mary Elizabeth Heaney, Audrey Benson and Betty Ross. Mrs. Charles Griset and Mrs. F. E. Hallman assisted.

DANCING EXHIBITION

Miss Mignon Callish and her partner, J. P. Erwin, will give a dancing demonstration at the high school tomorrow. They will also conduct a contest among students.

Miss Callish, a graduate of the Nichols-Murray dance school in New York, has been teaching classes for Orange county dancing directors.

GATHER AT COMPTON

Farla Nell Clayton, former junior college student, was hostess at an informal dinner in her Compton home recently. Dorothy Coe, Harold Youel and Kenneth Hunt were former classmates of Miss Clayton who were from Santa Ana.

The Rev. George Blevins, blind minister of Wise, Va., married 1,935 couples in 1935.

DISTRICT JUNIORS ENTERTAINED WHILE BY-LAWS ARRANGED

Junior clubwomen in the new junior southern district, California Federation of Women's clubs, had an executive board session Saturday in Santa Ana and formed by-laws which provide for an annual fall district meeting and board meetings as the need arises.

Mrs. E. D. White, southern district chairman of juniors, entertained the group in her home on North Broadway in the forenoon. At 11 o'clock she served doughnuts and coffee. At noon she hostessed at a luncheon in the Doris Kathryn tearoom. In the afternoon, they went to the Ebell clubhouse for the spring fashion show.

Present were Miss Eleanor Wilson of San Diego, district president; Mrs. J. Russel Wilson of Santa Ana, vice president; Miss Barbara Davis and Miss Nan Mead, Girls and Junior Ebell leaders of Santa Ana; Miss Florence Backs of Anaheim, district program chairman; Miss Frances Carpenter of San Diego, district secretary, and Mrs. White.

Members of the party were Helen Fine, Esther Heemstra, Jane McBurney, Hazel Oliphant, Louise Rowland Robinson, Jean Upshall, Ruth McBurney, Annie Tucker, Marjorie Hatter Vincent, Gertrude Vaughan and Alice Nelson.

JUDGE MORRISON TALKS TO PARENTS

Judge Kenneth Morrison is to be chief speaker at meeting of the John Muir Parent-Teacher association. The organization will meet tomorrow at 3 p. m., at the school.

Girls' Ebell Dance Gay Affair

Girls Ebell had a very successful and gay spring formal dance Saturday evening, when the shipboard decorations used in Junior Ebell's style show served equally well for their setting in Ebell clubhouse Peacock room.

Some 60 couples swayed and circled the floor to the strains of Lauren Wagner's orchestra's music. The boys in the band wore white mess-kackets and sailor caps in line with the nautical note.

Mrs. Howard Timmons and others of the girls' mothers served punch throughout the evening. Mayor and Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. Ray Lambert and others were present as special guests.

Among those dancing were Miss Dorothy Pettit in a pretty figured silk gown with fullness and decolletage . . . Miss Barbara Rowland in figured silk and corsage in the back . . . Miss Bettie Timmons, wearing summary green silk . . .

Miss Eleanor Cogan in apricot satin . . . Miss Betty Lee in attractive crispy yellow organdie . . . Miss Helena Bailey wearing a black skirt and tailored white pique blouse . . . Miss Jean Munro in deep blue satin . . . Miss Ellen Raitt in a springlike blue . . . Miss Marguerite Pimental in flowered silk.

MEAD SISTERS ENTERTAIN TWO

Misses Nan and Lolita Mead entertained two San Diego guests Saturday.

They were Miss Eleanor Wilson, southern district juniors' president in the California Federation of Women's clubs, who remained as an overnight guest, and Miss Frances Carpenter, secretary of the same group.

Mary Stoddard

Leap Year Girl's Problem for Engaged Man Brings Forth Letter from Contented Wife

By MARY STODDARD

"Who do I love?"

No one, we think, or you would not need to ask. Be it as it may, the recent letter from an engaged man who finds himself a moth fluttering undecidedly between his fiance in Europe and an attractive woman who is "setting her cap for him" here at home brings forth a problem of whether one can be in love and not know it.

Here is one woman's opinion as to the matter:

Dear Miss Stoddard: In regard to the engaged man who finds himself in the clutches of the Leap Year maid I would like to express my opinion.

I do not know why he accepted her interest in himself knowing he was engaged to this girl in Europe. I think he has taken part in this new courtship and isn't man enough to shoulder all blame. As you quoted him, "a small boy grown up," I feel he is very little in throwing the blame on this so-called Leap Year Maid.

Should this girl in Europe find out about this new courtship in Seattle, I think she would think him very fickle and break off her engagement, and this Leap Year maiden should realize the chances she is taking of his meeting future Amazons.

A CONTENTED WIFE AND MOTHER.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

Do you think men should be encouraged to wear more colorful clothes, such as women wear?

Mrs. W. C. Dunlap: It would certainly be an innovation. I don't see why they shouldn't be able to wear colors if they want to, though. If the majority started it, the rest would probably follow. What chance they have to brighten their outfits with their ties, they take advantage of.

Mrs. M. L. Pearson: I think it's a good idea if it isn't carried too far. They'd have to let their conscience be their guide.

ST. PATRICK'S NOTE SEEN IN DECORATIONS FOR PARTY OF CLUB

Green and white pottery and candles, flowers and favors and in fact, St Patrick's colors throughout the party struck a decorative note when Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. King entertained the Merrymakers club at Doris Kathryn tearoom for a dinner party Saturday evening.

M. and Mrs. Ersa Burns, whose moving to San Diego early this year has not prevented their faithful attendance at club parties, were given an attractive little friendship book from the club, containing names and addresses of the club members.

Mrs. J. Worth Alexander, Mrs. Orlo Householder, Frank Dane and Thomas Smith won prizes in the evening's bridge play. Dr. and Mrs. H. Raymond Smith were a guest couple present, and Mrs. Smith won a St. Patrick's bouquet as a traveling prize.

Members present were Messrs. and Mesdames Harold Moomaw, Thomas Tournat, Frank Dane, Orlo Householder, Worth Alexander, Ersa Burns, Frank Bettis and Harold W. Smith and Mrs. Inez McBay and Leon Lauderbach.

REBEKAH DEPUTY MAKES OFFICIAL VISIT TO SYCAMORES

Amid Shamrocks, tinted green lilies and candles carrying out the St. Patrick's Day theme, official visit of Mrs. Blanche Chandler, deputy of Rebekah district 50, was made Saturday evening to the Sycamore lodge. She was accompanied by Mrs. Rathbone, deputy marshal, and Mrs. Harlan, district 84 deputy. Initiation was announced for March 28. The deputy installed Mrs. Flossie Baker as conductor, replacing Mrs. Minnie Tovera, who has moved to Arizona. Mrs. Fannie Taylor presented Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Rathbone with bouquets of giant shamrocks, with money pasted between the green petals. Mrs. Bees McDonald made the gifts.

Mrs. Fern Smith, Sycamore vice-grand recently returned from Fort Wayne, Ind., reported on visits to Rebekah lodges in that district. Marguerite Allison received a shower of birthday cards.

Following lodge adjournment, a skit was presented by Donald Dunning, Jack and Harley Hutton "Ozark Shorty" sang cowboy songs. Mrs. Theresa Dunning arranged the program. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Annie Arnold and her assistants.

HAROLD HARRISONS HOSTS AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harrison entertained Saturday evening in their home on East Sixth street with a dinner party for members of their bridge club.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Zaiser were guests for the evening.

Other members present were Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Harrington, Rolla R. Hays, jr., Arnold Norton and Kingsley Tuttle.

GIRLS RETAIN POSTS

High school Girls' league officers will be retained for another semester. They are: Hazel Schwarm, president; Anne Wetherell, vice president; Mary Henderson, secretary; Billie Johnson treasurer, and Audrey Barnes, Helen Lowe, Helen Warner, Jean Munro, Kay Palmer and Lorraine Sweet, cabinet members.

St. Patrick's Party Is Popular

Some 250 celebrators walked through the tall shamrock trees in the Hotel Laguna entrance Tuesday evening and into the large room from which a dozen six-foot-high pigs greeted them with grins and greetings when members of the Ebell club staged one of the most successful parties in Our Village this season.

The pigs were drawn by Miss Eleanor Youngstrom and Mrs Thomas Gross and were lined up on the high walls, bordered with shamrocks. Hugh green hats filled with flowers and gay cartoons on every wall and screen provided a colorful and comic background for the many games played by the guests.

More Irish Hues

Mrs. Loyd Seilset, general chairman in charge of the affair, assisted by Mrs. Gene Douglas greeted each party-er and hostesses escorted guests to the various tables of games and fun. Hostesses were Mrs. Emery Bird, Mrs. Fred Leach, Mrs. Vincent Carroll, Mrs. Edward Jujon-Rouche, Mrs. Edward Beaver, Mrs. Bronson Buxton, Mrs. Ardyth Wightman, Mrs Manfred DeAlma, Mrs. Earl Hatheway, Miss Jean Giddings, and Miss Rosemary Sheehan.

Mrs. Charlotte Guyer, Mrs. Neil Raney, Mrs. Milburn G. Harvey, and Mrs. Linton Simmons served colorful green and white sandwiches from a gay table decorated with green and white candles and white flowers in green hats during the evening.

Santa Anita race track might have reopened judging from the crowd that hollered and clapped before the miniature horse-racing game over which Mrs. M. A. Olazabal directed players. . . . The fun of circus days was brought to mind by the fish pool in the corner where guests "fished" for various prizes. Misses Jean Giddings and Ruth Walters presided over this gay game.

Racing Popular

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Rush superintended some 20 tables of bridge and elaborate prizes were won by Miss B. Green of Laguna and Mr. D. Monger of Fullerton. And assisting with all the games were Captain George A. Portus, Mr. Rush and Mr. Alfred Hastie, while Mr. Loyd Seilset, appropriately dressed for the occasion with a huge green hat sat behind the cashier's wicket for the evening.

Committees for the party were Mrs. Charles Petty, Mrs. Emery Bird, Mrs. Emerson Milnor, Miss Eleanor Youngstrom, Mrs. Charles Bothamley, and Mrs. Thomas Gross on decorations. Posters and talleys were made by Misses Rosemary Sheehan and Ruth Walters. Miss Virginia Cunningham superintended the prizes and Mrs. Fred Leach and Mrs. Gene Douglas were in charge of tickets.

BY-PROXY SHOWER GIVEN TO HONOR MIS IDA WAGNER

A popular Orange county girl, Miss Ida Wagner, of Fullerton, who's now attending the John Brown school in Siloam Springs, Ark., was feted in a novel manner Saturday when a group of her friends met in the home of Mrs. T. K. Gowen, Fullerton, and gave a shower for her.

The afternoon was spent in compiling a six-page newspaper filled with local sports, society, feature and other types of news items about Ida's "home town." Then the newspaper and the shower gifts were packed in a huge box and mailed to Siloam Springs.

Mrs. Clarence Kelly of Los Angeles, the former Ruby Blythe of Fullerton, hostessed at the shower. Miss Wagner was one of the attendants at her wedding a year ago.

SCOUTS CUBS SLATE WORK AT FRANKLIN P.-T. A. MEETING

Cub Scout work will be demonstrated for Franklin Parent-Teacher association members tomorrow evening when the group meets at the school for a 6:30 o'clock potluck dinner and program. William Carithers, scoutmaster, will direct the exhibition.

A. Haven Smith, principal of the Orange high school, will speak on "Citizenship." Mothers of Franklin pupils are asked to donate homemade candy for a candy sale during the meeting.

DINE AND DANCE

Morris Christy was guest of honor recently at a dinner party at the Hotel Laguna, followed by dancing at Balboa.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET TOMORROW

The Woman's club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Veterans hall with Mrs. E. M. Waycott presiding.

At 1 o'clock, the study section will convene in the hall for a program of current interest.

SALES OF AIR ISSUES HELP MARKET

By VICTOR EUBANKS

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Buying of low-priced utilities and a few air transport company issues helped to stiffen the stock market today after the list had been dented in early dealings by profit taking.

Transcontinental & Western got up 2 points, and others up fractions to a point or more included United Air Lines, National Power & Light, American Power & Light, American & Foreign Power, Baldwin Locomotive and Chrysler.

At the same time losers of a point or so included Bethlehem, Johns-Manville, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Amerada, Westinghouse, Pullman, Colorado Fuel & Iron, Santa Fe and Douglas. Trading was comparatively dull on both the rallies and declines. Such issues as N. Y. Central, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors and Consolidated Gas were about unchanged.

The European situation still held much of the attention of brokerage circles, although the consensus was that conversational, and not actual, war could be expected. But most market commentators were forecasting irregular trends until the Rhineland dispute is ironed out.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Steel stocks, along with a few utilities and air transports, corralled what little support made its appearance in today's market.

Although there were scattered gains of fractions to a point or more, profit-taking in various industrial specialties loosened these for declines of as much. The late tone was irregular. Transfers approximated 2,100,000 shares.

LOBBY PROBE CHIEF CITED BY HEARST

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—Chairman Black (D., Ala.) of the senate lobby committee today was served publicly with a subpoena to appear in the supreme court of the District of Columbia in answer to an injunction suit brought by William Randolph Hearst.

Deputy Marshal Harry C. Allen served the papers as a session of the committee was in process. Similar papers were served Saturday on three other members of the committee.

The action prompted an immediate comment by Senator Schwellenbach (D., Wash.).

"There has just been served on the chairman of this committee a subpoena instituted through court proceedings by William Randolph Hearst in an effort to stop this investigation," Schwellenbach said.

"A sum in excess of 3½ million dollars has been expended by public utilities of the country to defeat one single piece of legislation.

"If the public utilities, William Randolph Hearst, the American Liberty League and other special interests of this country succeed in preventing this committee from proceeding with its work, we may expect that when they object to some piece of legislation before the congress a marshal of the court may walk into the United States senate and serve a subpoena on the vice president."

Grain Market

CHICAGO, March 16. (AP)—Sufficient selling developed in the wheat pit today to give at times a cent a bushel setback to values.

Buyers were deterred because of uncertainties regarding the Franco-German deadlock. There was also a prevalent disposition to believe moisture southwest would yet prove ample for domestic wheat crops.

Wheat closed unsteady, ¾-⅞c under Saturday's finish, May 99-99¼c, July 89¼-89⅝c; corn ⅛-⅜c down, May 60⅝-60½c; oats ⅜-⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c decline. Closing prices:

'CALLING ALL CARS' KVOE FEATURE

When the "master mind's" secretary makes a mistake, the "master mind" is simply out of luck. That, in short, is the reason why "The Case of the June Bug," a "Calling All Cars" dramatization scheduled on KVOE February 17, was not heard on that date, and that is why it will be heard tonight.

When Bill Robson had finished writing this masterpiece of factual drama, he gave it to his secretary to file. She filed it under what she thought was an appropriate heading, having to do with insects and the like, but when the time came for rehearsal the script could not be found. Approximately 30 days later, rumor has it, a friend gave writer Bill Robson's beard a playful yank and—would you believe it?—out popped the missing parchment! So out into the ether waves it goes tonight at 7:30 o'clock from KVOE, telling the true story of the final capture of the elusive giant Negro whose escapades ranged from Imperial valley to Folsom.

Dictionary Ideas

The story of Noah Webster and his ideas of writing a dictionary will be related by Ralph Smedley during his "Your Choice of Words" broadcast, from KVOE this evening at 5:30 o'clock, one of the adult education series. This will not be a "commercial" in any way for the dictionary of today which bears his name, but will tell of the first attempts at word tabulation and what it meant, especially with respect to American usages as differing from the English. Mr. Smedley is heard on KVOE every Monday at the same hour.

"The Method of Panel Discussion" will be the topic of tomorrow's adult education broadcast to be made by Mrs. Golden Weston, director of the adult education department, Santa Ana city schools, at 5:30 p. m. She said this method of discussion is now being used extensively throughout the nation. Mrs. Weston will explain its technique and particular values.

Musical Hit Tunes

Current hit tunes of the day will feature tonight's "musical Moments" presentation by the Sterling Male Chorus and the orchestra on KVOE at 7 o'clock. From "Follow the Fleet," the chorus will sing "Let's Face the Music," in addition to the popular ballad, "Please Believe Me." Original arrangements of "I Got a Feelin' You're Foolin'" and a tuneful arrangement for the strings of "Madame Lulu" will be offeed by the orchestra.

The music of Paul Whiteman's orchestra will be featured exclusively on KVOE tonight between 6:45 and 7 o'clock, to be augmented by the voices of Durelle, "The King's Men" and Bob Lawrence. Four of the newest hits of the day will be programmed and will include "Wah-Hoo," "The Wheel of the Wagon Is Broken," "Saddle Your Blues to a Wild Mustang" and "What's the Name of That Song?"

LEECH BUSINESS IS GOOD

Keeps Three Girls Busy

OAKLAND, March 16. (AP)—Three Mexican girls, Consuelo, Mercedes and Lolita Mendoza, are listed by research workers for "The American Guide" as producers of leeches to cure black eyes or other skin discolorations.

The treatment is an old one, declared by many more effective than raw beefsteak. The leech draws off the dark venous blood, leaving the flesh almost its normal color. The Mendoza girls declare, according to the federal writers, that many persons cling to the quaint remedy and maintain a constant demand for the leeches.

To catch the aquatic worms, the girls dangle their bare feet in stagnant water of a pond back of their home. The leeches affix themselves to the bare toes, and are removed and sold.

The girls say the animals are suseptible to music, especially the sedate Spanish variety. When they have a rush order Consuelo plays a guitar while her sisters sing, and they have a crop in about half the usual time.

Bartholomae Wins Newport Trophy

NEWPORT HARBOR, Calif. March 16. (AP)—William Bartholomae's Mystery, a six meter sloop, won the first annual Newport Harbor Yacht club gold trophy, capturing four out of the five-race series.

Bartholomae tillered Mystery in front in the final 10-mile sail yesterday, and ended the series with a total of 26 points.

Second in scoring was William Slater's Lanai of the Los Angeles Yacht club, with 19¼ points, and Russell Simmons' AyAyAy of the California Yacht club was third with 16. Trailing behind were Richard Schayer's Catalina sloop Naiad and Al Rogers' Snove of Newport.

Paid student guides are provided University of Texas visitors at Austin, Tex., to explain extensive development in recent years of the school's physical properties.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

LIONEL BARRYMORE, commentator. Tonight the screen's veteran character actor joins the new series of Sigmund Romberg programs. (KFI, 6:30)

There have been commentators and commentators, but trust the elder Barrymore to add a new twist to the role. For with him will be that charming youngster of the movies, Cora Sue Collins.

Together they will talk over the different numbers Romberg has programmed, with Barrymore explaining to Cora Sue the history and meaning of each. It sounds like a swell idea.

AS EXCLUSIVELY told in this column February 17, Eddie Holden hires his Japanese house boy, Frank Watanabe, out to the National Broadcasting Co.

With an entirely new script and partner, Watanabe's five-a-week series debuts over the Pacific coast "Blue" network Monday night, April 13. (KECA, 8:15)

Cameron Prud'homme, heard frequently on many NBC dramatic shows out of San Francisco, will play opposite Watanabe as William. Reginald "Archie" Sharland, as you no doubt know, is ill and needs must spend a year or more in an effort to regain his health.

* * *

AS THIS IS BEING written your dialing newshawk is listening to "Hollywood Hotel." And the old place doesn't seem the same without Dick Powell. It's a speedy recovery we're a wishin' him, begorra!

At this moment Raymond Paige is swinging into his feature number, "Irish Rhapsody." Have you ever given a thought to how fortunate Campbell's many soups are in having Paige doing baton duty? If we were paying the bill I'm sure you and I would give the matter plenty of attention.

For this show, in a musical way, is one of radio's most demanding. And I dare say that no other conductor in radio has had as varied a background to equip him for the job as this young American.

Sixty minutes on the air and at least three-quarters of that time is devoted to intricate musical cues, including everything from a dash of the symphonic to a cord in G. The pace of the entire show moves to the rhythm of his baton.

And although the hour is crammed to the hilt with outstanding personalities, Paige always manages to crash through with the smash feature of the evening.

In this particular number he's doing now, the arrangement sweeps along from the gay, lilting rhythms of Irish folk dances to the bittersweet melody of "Kathleen Mavourneen." Always he builds with a strong feeling for the dramatic.

Not just a musical cocktail, but a symphony of emotions that even the layman understands.

"Paths of Glory"

By HUMPHREY COBB

and pulled myself out from under, the attack was all over.

President: So you never left the jumping-off trench?

Didier: Yes, I was practically out of it.

Tanon (interrupting): Were your feet on the parapet?

Didier: Well, almost, sir.

President: How much of you was actually on the parapet?

Didier: Well, none of me was on the parapet. As I said, I was on the ladder. But from the waist up I was above the parapet.

President: But your feet were on the ladder, not on the parapet?

Didier: Well, they had to be on the ladder so as to get onto the parapet.

President: Yes, I quite understand that. As a matter of fact, however, your whole body remained in the space delimited by the walls of the trench, didn't it?

Didier: I don't understand what you mean, sir.

President: Is it not a fact that you never got out of the jumping off trench at all?

Didier: Well, as I was saying, sir, I was just getting out when Valladier's body—

President: Answer my question. Did you or did you not get out of the jumping-off trench?

Didier: I was trying to tell you, sir—

President: Answer yes or no.

Didier: . . .

President: Answer me, I say.

Didier: No.

President: Any questions, Mr. Prosecutor?

Ibels: No questions, sir.

President: Captain Etienne.

Etienne: I would like to call witnesses to the condition which prevailed in the Number 2 Company trench. I would like to show that—

President: Quite unnecessary. that he never left the jumping-off position.

Etienne: Just the same, I want to prove that—

President: The request is refused.

Etienne: May I call witnesses to the accused's record, character and—

President: I told you before, wer're not trying the accused for his character. I wish you would stop attempting to introduce these irrelevancies. The accused may go back to his seat. If you wish to make your pleading, Captain Etienne, you may do so now. You can have five minutes.

Etienne: Yes, sir. First, then, I consider it my duty to respectfully protest against the manner in which this trial has been conducted. I protest with the gravest formality against the fact that the indictment was not read. I consider that this is an omission the illegality of which renders this court martial null and void. Second, I protest against the fact that no steongraphic notes of the trial were kept. This deprives the accused of an instrument with which to back up an appeal for pardon to the President of the Republic—

President: You are overlooking the fact that the preidential pardon no longer exists, Captain Etienne. It was precisely because these cases of cowardice and insubordination were increasing that the President relinquished his prerogative of pardon and that the summary courts martial were re-established. There is, therefore, no need for keeping stenographic notes.

Etienne: Nevertheless, sir, I take exception to their omission. I do so all the more emphatically because of my third protest, which I am about to make. I respectfully but none the less formally protest against the manner in which the accused were questioned and forced into admissions which were so distorted that they became incriminating. I draw the attention of the court to the fact that the examination of the witnesses was grossly unfair and that the cross-examination was blocked, if it was not dispensed with altogether. As I said, I would consider myself lacking in my duty to the men I have been appointed to defend if I did not make these formal protests to the court.

Let me now, with the court's permission, turn to the three men sitting here under the stigma of one of the worst accusations that can be made against soliders—cowardice.

Gentlemen, I say to you that these men were not cowards. They were heroes. They belong to a famous regiment of assault troops, a regiment whose standards are weighted down with the decorations which a grateful country has heaped upon them, a regiment to which it is my own greatest pride to belong. Within the last month, only, they again distinguished themselves in the fierce fighting in the Souchez valley and the neighboring ridges where so much French blood has been spilled. Decimated, weary, sleepless, and shell-shocked, they were finally relieved, what was left of them, two or three days ago for a well-earned period of rest and re-equipment. While actually on the march out to the rest area, they were diverted and sent into the Pimple sector with orders to capture that notoriously formidable obstacle, so formidable indeed that two attacks made on it by fresh troops, fresh troops, I repeat, had recently failed. Without a murmur, they put their fatigue aside and found themselves in the trenches again on the very night they were to have been in billets. For 36 hours they submit to a devastating enemy harassing fire. The ground around them is covered with the corpses of their comrades who have fallen in the previous attacks. The air is heavy with the stench of death and noisy with the sound of death.

Zero hour comes, and the barrage opens. The German counter-barrage replies at once, registered to a metre. Deadly machine-gune fire sprays the parapets almost as thickly as does an impenetrable rain. Do they falter? They do not. They advance in the frightful inferno, their numbers thinning out so heartbreakingly fast with each step forward they take.

Ferol gets the farthest, way out into the middle of that avenue of death called no-man's-land. There, he finds himself alone. Is he expected to attack the Pimple by himself? No, no one would ask that of a man, it is too senseless. Gentlemen, the accused Ferol was no coward!

Langlois, wearing his medaille militaire and his crox de guerre, is right with his company commander, inextricably caught in his own wire which is ringing to the sound of the enemy machine-gun bullets. His company commander is killed, his company cut to pieces. As he testified himself, he did not take command because there was nothing to take command of—except the dead. He is stopped, he cannot go farther. Gentlemen, the accused Langlois was no coward!

Didier has had luck, I'll admit. But is he to be branded a coward because a man's body falls on top of him and knocks him out? I wanted to bring witnesses to the conditions which existed in the Number 2 company frontage, perhaps the worst spot in the sector. They would have told you that the attacking wave was literally womn down like wheat on the lip of the trench by a withering fire. * Didier was trying to advance when he was prevented by one of those accidents which might have seemed funny under other circumstances but which, under these, was too significant to be anything but horrible. I also wanted to call witnesses to the fact that he had, prior to the attack, carried out single-handed a dangerous and daring patrol along the enemy wire, that he was considered an ace at that sort of thing by his company commander, unhappily killed a few seconds after he had gallantly led his men to the assualt. Gentlemen, the accused Didier was no coward!

What more is there for me to say. . .

President: Nothing. You have already overstayed your time.

Etienne: If you please, gentlemen. I know that some examples are wanted, but these men are the wrong ones. Surely it will not be you, honorable judges of a count of military justice, who will contribute to the grotesque irony of condemning these men for a crime which is the antithesis of the qualities they actually displayed and for which they should be decorated?

Gentlemen, convinced of the strong sense of duty which animates your consciences as officers, of the pround sense of justice which rules your consciences as judges, of the pervading feeling of compassion which moves your consciences as men, I commend the destinies of the accused to your generosity of spirit, assured that three French officers of your integrity will not find it possible to act in such a way as to be accessories to what might become a frightful and revolting judicial crime. Thank you for your attention and patience.

President: Mr. Prosecutor.

Ibels: Mr. President and judges of the court martial. I have not my opponent's gift for oratory, and, if I had, I would not use it at this time, considering it, from the point of view of the case for the prosecution, as unnecessary. The accused, one by one, came up and admitted to a failure to advance during an ordered attack. In military law that is, at the very best, called cowardice in the face of the enemy. I therefore confine myself to requesting the court to act in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Military Justice, to finde the accused guilty of the charges as stated, and to impose the penalty which is prescribed by the Code.

President: Accused, stand up! Have you anything further to say in your defense?

The prisoners look at Etienne and he whispers with them.

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Two Pieces Form Each Toy

PATTERN 5463

"Come spend happy hours with us!" carol the droll pig, the frisky lamb and saucy duck—cunning cuddle toys which are sure to warm a tiny tot's heart. Why not make the whole gladsome trio for your child, or another's? They're all so easy to cut and stuff, and can b run up quickly from gay scraps you're sure to have on hand. But two pieces are required for each toy, while the eyes are worked on with a bit of embroidery floss.

In Pattern 5463 you will find a pattern of a pig about 5x9 inches; a duck about 6x10 inches and a lamb about 8x9 inches; directions for the making; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10c in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth street. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

To Make It a Blessing

JOHN AND MACK RUST, inventors of a mechanical cotton-picker, have announced a magnificent decision in a newspaper interview. They declared their intention to forego the large profits which such an invention might produce, in order that it might be "a blessing and not a curse to mankind."

They appealed to the world to help them work out a plan whereby use of the machine would raise rather than lower labor standards.

They proposed to limit their own salaries and to donate their profits as stockholders to improving the condition of cotton workers.

* * *

THE announcement is all the more striking because no labor-saving machine has been awaited with more fear than this cotton-picker—the fear that it would make a bad situation worse. The sharecropper system has been a blight on the South. Its defenders can say no more for it than that it is "the best system under the circumstances." The fact is the South's major industry has been a primitive manual industry trying to compete with a world geared to the efficiency of labor-saving machinery.

This has been true because, when harvest comes, the only known method to pick cotton has been to send millions into the fields to perform the slow, back-breaking toil of picking 10 to 16 million bales of cotton from the bolls.

Regardless of technical progress in other agriculture, the cotton plantation has been obliged to maintain a vast reservoir of human labor to have on hand at picking time.

Small wonder, then, that the living standards of these workers have dropped lower and lower.

The South's obvious need to industrialize its cotton production has been recognized, but everyone has trembled at the thought. They know the way of the machine. They have dreaded the wholesale unemployment, misery, degradation among those 2,000,000 southern families that must follow the introduction of a machine to "do the work of 100 men."

* * *

IF the machine finally has arrived, what providence that its future lies in the hands of two men who reckon the success of their invention in human instead of monetary terms! Their appeal for assistance should be answered. The human mind that can devise a machine should be capable of mastering it in the public interest.

It is appalling to hear that this machine, in full operation, will throw 75 per cent of the labor in the sharecropper sections out of employment, if used without regard to consequences. Much of this labor consists of children who ought to be in school, women who should be in their homes, and of men who work too long for too little.

If the country rallies to the support of the Rust brothers' proposal, however, the South, instead of finding its farmer-laborers starving, may take its rightful place in the economic sun. The children can go to school and the women to their homes; the men can work shorter hours, providing employment for more people.

And they will get more than they ever had for their work. They will become a market for the world. They will stimulate new business and industry in the South, releasing it from the yoke of a single crop and creating new sources of employment.

Adults Must Take Blame

LETHARGY of parents must be blamed for the rumpus which has arisen over the lax moral conditions and destruction of property which assertedly prevail at Balboa among visiting students during Collegiate week.

If parents took more interest in the proper supervision of their youngsters, there would be no need for the protest by several responsible organizations and individuals that the collegiate visitors are doing things they shouldn't.

It should be obvious that beach officials can't furnish chaperones for the horde of carefree classmen and classwomen who descend upon the island during Easter week for what seems to be an annual spree.

Whether or not the youngsters actually are misbehaving in this case, it is certainly the duty of parents to investigate the kind of company and entertainment that their children seek during adolescent years. And to use sensible discipline, if necessary.

Privilege and Duty

THE presidential election on November 3 may prove to be one of the most important in many generations. And the primary voting on May 5 runs it a close second in importance.

All registrations in California prior to January 1, 1936, have been cancelled. Citizens cannot vote in the primary elections unless they register before March 26. If you haven't registered, do it now and maintain your right to ballot on national affairs.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

Diary: With my lady to Maillard's for a dainty bite. And for a swing up the avenue passing John Charles Thomas and Jack Wheeler. And Lois Long back from the Florida keys gadding about the betiques. And Goadby Loew in a spring surtout of slate gray with salmon pink tie.

So home and Billy Seeman breezed by a moment and a note from George and Colette Armsby, who have fallen in love with Arizona. Later to a tea to young D. Fairbanks, then driving to Brooklyn Heights. Prospect Park bursting with bloom and we circled a lake afoot.

To dinner at Larue's with Jessie and Will Hays and argle-bargled with Mary Lewis and Bob Hague nearby. And there was a fly oldster of 80, the best dancer on the floor. To bed reading Charles Morrow Wilson's excellent "Rabble Rouser," as fine and true a tale of up-the-holier life as ever I read.

* * *

New York's current Tammany chieftain is a type reversing all the physical formulas. Most of the bosses have been cartoonists' delight—embonpoint, droopy jowls, whiskers, etc. James Dooling has none of these. He is slim, dapper and habited in the flashy fashion of the successful prize fight promoter. He smokes cigarets chain fashion and looks at questioners through innocent-looking Irish blue eyes—saying very little. And when he speaks it's in the clipped East Side tang of Al Smith. He is a man's man, unmarried, has an army of friends but few intimates. And is a sucker for detective yarns.

* * *

Orchestra leaders are reputedly least jealous of their contemporaries of professional folk. So far as is known there is not a feud among them—Whiteman and Vallee frequently dine together. So do Guy Lombardo and Wayne King. George Olson and Vincent Lopez golf together and Ray Noble and Jack Benny are often companions in off hours. The good will attitude is the more commendable because the baton wavers are presumably plumed with the afflatus called temperament. And they are in a calling that has become fiercely competitive.

Overheard in West 47th street: "He's slicker than two eels wrestling in a tub of hot lard."

The Players, where shy Oliver Herford, like a gray wraith, flitted in and out murmuring his sudden wisdoms and memorable shafts of dry wit, are planning to honor him as no other member has ever been honored save the founder who bequeathed his home to the membership. One room for him is called The Edwin Booth Memorial and is, I hear, exactly as he left it, his meerschaum on the table and an opened book and several articles of wearing apparel hanging in the wardrobe. The Oliver Herford Memorial will be a similar room hung with Herford's paintings and drawings of cats.

* * *

The man who came closest to filling the kindly niche left by Oliver Herford is Don Marquis, now convalescing from an attack that laid him low. Marquis, born in Walnut, Ill., and reared in the South, plump and white haired had attained a mellowy, philosophical outlook after many busy years reporting, columning and authoring. In younger days he had moments of bitterness in his writings but Time softened. He had an inexhaustible fund of stories scattered with keen aphorisms that always made him the center of a crowd. Few newspapermen ever attained the beloved sort of popularity that is deservedly his. He is in his 50's and his wife is an accomplished actress.

They came out of the Stork club just as the sun was blearing a flush of morning pink. An alert taxi shot up. Weaving unsteadily, they waved it away and teetered toward the avenue, the taxi trailing slowly. ## The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 16. — President Roosevelt will repeat his 1932 transcontinental trip in his re-election campaigning this year. He will make the journey in a special train, plans to be "on the road" several weeks . . . Secretary Dan Roper's dismissal of two officials of the steamboat inspection bureau, because they let news leak to correspondents, seems about to be repeated by the labor department. Several employes in the consumers division are being threatened with loss of their jobs for giving certain information to reporters . . . Twenty years ago Paul Greever "rode the rods" from his home in Missouri to Wyoming in search of fame and fortune. Today he has both. He is Wyoming's sole congressman and is the wealthy head of one of the state's largest law firms . . . Administration foes are critical of the bill introduced by Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith. It would require the government to dispose of its cotton holdings within a specified time. They allege that traders have already bought up thousands of cotton pool certificates at 25 and 50 cents apiece, on the chance of being able to sell them at three and four times that value if the measure passes . . . Being a Presidential candidate is agreeing with Senator Bill Borah's health. He has put on a little weight in the last month and is the picture of fit physical condition.

HEALTH ADMINSTRATOR

Though no official announcement has been made, Dr. Thomas Parran, jr., will come to Washington early next month to become surgeon general of the United States, heading the public health service. Ever since the retirement of Hugh S. Cummings, the post has been mysteriously vacant. Reason for delay in naming Parran is that he wanted to hold his present post—state health officer for New York—to which Roosevelt, as governor, appointed him . . . The reason for Mrs. Huey Long's vote of "aye" on the farm bill is perhaps very remote from agriculture. She was more docile than Huey would have been, because she does not want to bring a club down on the head of Seymour Weiss. Weiss is the Long machine in Louisiana, and is now threatened with indictment for income tax evasion. For his sake, Mrs. Long treads lightly in Washington.

Dickinson, "dark horse" Republican presidential candidate, never rides backward in a train or street car. Doing so makes him ill. . . . February dividend declarations were the highest for the month since 1932. Fifty-four companies declared extra dividends and 57 voted increases. This compares with 41 and 22 in February last year. . . Roosevelt has been checking up on all unspent government funds, in preparation for the submission to congress of his relief budget. . . . Senator Johnson himself is keeping hands off, but he is not unfriendly to Borah. . . . The government has sold 200,000 bales of its cotton holdings since Feb. 12 without disturbing prices. In fact, the price of cotton has advanced slightly. . . . Word that the Home Owners Loan corporation was planning to lop off some 4500 of its field personnel has stirred up a storm of protest on Capitol hill. ## One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

'Next War,' Even With New Honors, Will Be the Same

WE ARE told that the "next war" will be different. It will be more scientific. It will rage in the heavens above and in the waters beneath. It will be a machine war, with engines of superpower. The tanks and bombers and reeking tubes of the last war will be like toys compared with the monsters of the coming conflict, belching their fire of death.

* * *

And so we try to throw around the shambles the glamor of power, of gigantic movements, of beating nature into submission and making her serve our fiendish purposes. The spectacular appeals to us. There is a fascination in men careening to victory on the wings of clouds and diving to earth from appalling heights. Flying fortresses, falling to earth in an uproar of flames and explosion, is thrilling and horrifying and we like to be horrified. Witness the whole flock of sensational magazines which flare from every newsstand, with war aviation as their motive. There is morbid delight in catching the horror on the faces of dropping men, and hearing their ghastly cries as they rush to shapeless pulp.

* * *

Stalking the enemy on the bottom of the seas is wonderfully fearful. While devil-fish squirm in pity, murderous men will reek their vengeance on other fellowmen. Gouging the life from human flesh, purpling the waters with oozing blood, this sort of sport is glorified. Smothering whole cities in mantles of gas, making the bacterial world serve the ends of mutual destruction, shriveling human bodies with searing flames—all of this ghoulishness is idealized as an evidence of power and scientific progress.

* * *

But the "next war" will not be different. It may be more stupid, it may be more desructive, it may reek with more insane folly than the last suicidal conflict but it will be no different in its purposes and its results. Wars are always alike. They strike fatally at everything noble and uplifting in human values. They throw men back to the jungle. They are bestial, devilish and utterly vile. No good can flow from their reeking sewers.

* * *

No, the next war will be the same as wars have been. Human flesh will rend and tear as always. The love of home, devotion of friends, sacred ties of mother, wife and children will be trampled in the mire as they have always been when the war mills start grinding human lives to stinking carrion. Patriotism will wither and die as it always does under the brutishness which war excites.

GOD OR THE DOLLAR

To the Editor: For reason, people are, generally, becoming more attentive to real economy than ever before, and for this change of attitude we know there must be found and, if possible, given the necessary changes that a desired effect may be had.

The primary cause, without question, is the indifference of the masses as to what is being handed them in the name of justice and also their seeming willingness to "let George do it."

Civilization, as we know it today, is not the result of reason, which is the answer to right thinking, but came, shall we not say, by accidental circumstances.

Civilization of the past was likewise the result of conditions that happened or chanced to arise at the same time. We think of feudalism as the result of the troublesome conditions that chanced to exist in its day, ho wthat it flourished for awhile or until industry grew to such proportions, with its regular way of life, its exchanging of commodities, its buying and selling of goods and its commercial activities in general; that meant, of course, the sure breaking down of feudalism; and these in turn being based only on chanced conditions, were supplanted by the machine age, the harbinger of our present capitalistic system, so called, probably because of the few that rule and the many that are ruled by it.

Our economy is often mentioned or referred to as one of the highest degree and one that is as old as time itself; some go so far as to say it was chosen afore time; but as a matter of fact it is only an offspring of our present day so-called "profit" system and this in turn is the result of successive events, mostly political.

Lives of men and women, regardless of age or circumstances, should not be made a sacrifice to the cause of human greed but, through intelligent and active thought, the effort should be to build a civilization devoid of the elements of chance, and one that the entire citizenry may look to with pride and know it only as the bulwark of "justice to all."

I believe the Townsend plan is the answer to this call for a help that is as urgent as it is needful. It will remove the element of chance from civilization as 'tis known today; and is the first real effort ever made to fashion a society friendly to the needs of humanity.

This government of ours was founded upon God's law of love and justice to all, and a rightful distribution of its resources, but not with an eye to selfish accumulations.

Can we say that this founding spirit still lives or must we succumb to the rule of dollars rather than mankind?

"Choose ye whom you will serve"; if your God is the dollar, serve it; if otherwise, serve accordingly.

A TOWNSEND CLUB MEMBER.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

You know if the city's finances were running low, and mine were not, I would pay for the installation of traffic signals at First and Second and Third and Fifth and Sixth on Main street. This is gettin' to be some town, and so many cars are in motion—and how—that one's preambulation would have a better guarantee if the same protection was vouchsafed at the streets enumerated, as now exist at Fourth and Main. Maybe age and caution provokes this suggestion, but there are a lot of younger folk in whom I have a concern.

* * *

One of my friends volunteered the information that he played a better game of pool since he had the flu. Well, from what I know about his game it's time it was showing an improvement. I also get this opinion confirmed by his partners.

* * *

If you have any pamphlets on how to improve your tennis game please send to my address, and I shall re-route them to a professional friend who needs the information more than I do. My understanding is that about 500 of them can be used at a dollar a "pamp." I do not know of any other way he can get his money back. And then anyway, tennis as a means of making a real estate transaction is off the record.

Capt. "Bob" Ward can bob all he wants to in his automobile thrills and spills. My trouble has been under the most ordinary circumstances to maintain an equipoise while riding in the back seat. I've often had my spinal column chilled when an approaching car did not give an indication that I was on earth, and then suddenly swerved to the side. But I've never felt the same since.

My opinion about the European situation has been solicited. I know a well informed authority who told me that he knew a man who said a fellow told him that there would be another European war just as soon as a few more assassinations took place, and some hot-head threw a bomb into the other fellow's back yard. Aside from this information—if it is—a European war can be expected anytime, whether it happens or not. Boy, there's some info that couldn't be listed in your income tax report.

Friend shows me two one dollar bills. I was glad to see 'em, but that wasn't his story. One of the bills said "there is on deposit in the treasury" and the other "there has been deposited in the treasury." What I would like to know now is what became of both bills?

Flock of friends wanted to know if I had inspected the Spurgeon and East Fourth auto accident wherein an automobile went inside to inquire about a radio. This incident was in all probability provoked by the experience of a man who was touring the Imperial valley and was stopped by a hitchhiker who wanted a ride, but on ascertaining that the car contained no radio service he refused and said he would wait for a car which had one.

Most of the people of the United States have just about come to the conclusion that business has been taxed into stagnation. Met a bookkeeper Saturday for a local concern who said after assembling the figures for the year's business she then had to record them on fourteen different reports. And they say that patience is a virtue. I think it's more than that.

Friday, the 13th, and this happened: Joe Steele saunters to a business house to complete a transaction, takes out the old purse to meet the obligation, then retires. At the close of business Friday, the 13th, Joe discovers that he had lost his purse, so the little task of balancing the days receipts becomes somewhat complicated, and adds to his mental perplexities. Joe starts the power plant workin', but for the life of him he cannot remember how or where he parted with his pocketbook. Then later the old antenna picked up a message and relayed to him the place where he had the business transaction. Early next morning Joe is standing out in front before the doors are open, waiting for the arrival of the proprietor. He goes in, picks up the purse from the counter where he had left it; there is nothing in it, and then Joe reaches down in his own pocket and finds the money he never lost in the first place. And still some people talk about Friday, the 13th, being unlucky.
